Traffic Cops Will Have Regular Beats

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6. (UP)—Like the city policemen, California's state traffic officers will henceforth patrol regular "beats."

This was announced today by E. Raymond Cato, superintendent of the California highway patrol, who said that under the new plan every traffic officer would be required to check in hourly at designated points along their respective routes.

Through a co-operative arrangement worked out with telephone companies, anyone desiring the services of an officer may call the long distance telephone operator, who will notify the station from which the officer next reports.

FIND CRAWFORD OWNED GUN LIKE ONE USED IN MURDER

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 6. (To the Editor of The Register.) Say, these wars is getting to be tough. I had no more than got home from the battle of Red River with my old commanding general (I am a colonel on the staff of Bill Murray,) we licked Texas and "made bridges free for Oklahomans" to cross even if they had no business on the other side. Today my old general calls me back into the trenches (let's see who we are fighting this week. Oh, yes, the Standard Oil and the octopuses) we want $1 oil and we ain't going to quit shooting till we get it. Old Bill's been right every time and I am still with him. Next week we are going to fight for 20-cent wheat.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PRISONER ESCAPES WITH PRISON AUTO

YOUNG, Ariz., Aug. 6.—(UP)—A convict driving a prison car which he and a prison guard used four days "partying" around the state before he decided to escape, was sought today throughout the northeastern part of Arizona.

The convict, Dewey Thruolo, drove from here late yesterday after forcing his prison guard companion, Charles Rose, to leave him. Rose and Thruolo started their adventure last Saturday when the convict, a trusty, received permission to visit a relative at a road camp near the state prison at Florence.

Rose was detailed to guard Thruolo. The pair passed up the road camp and drove to Phoenix and visited relatives of Rose. Later they visited Globe, Miami and Payson, back to Phoenix and yesterday came north through Young.

COURT ACTION IN OKLAHOMA WAR PREDICTED

HARRY SINCLAIR MAY MAKE FIRST MOVE AGAINST GOV. MURRAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6. (UP)—Court action threatened today as the next move of Oklahoma oil operators to combat Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray's closing of all the wells in the state's flush fields.

No formal announcement has been made by oil companies or producers opposed to the shutdown order and declaration of martial law, but it was understood the Sinclair company would take the initiative in the fight to take troops out of the oil fields.

It was Harry Sinclair whom the governor singled out in his charges that oil operators had sought to overthrow the state legislature and "overthrow the state government."

Sinclair employees were the only ones who made any resistance when soldiers took over the fields. Two hundred National Guardsmen today held full control of all flush fields. Four companies of infantry and one of field artillery enforced the governor's orders that none but stripped wells should operate until the price of crude oil rose.

DEPRESSION IS NOT AFFECTING F A G FACTORIES

Cigaret, Bathing Suit and Fishing Tackle Makers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(UP)—The ill wind of depression is rolling up good sized profits for more than one American industry.

Makers of cigarettes, bathing suits, fishing tackle and small arms and ammunition, for instance, report to the department of commerce that sales this year exceed even those of the years when depression was something to read about in the history books.

Larger sales of fishing tackle and arms are not so easily explained. Increased leisure may be a factor, but officials believe in some places the search for fish and game is inspired by a real necessity of cutting down food bills and a desire to make a little money from the sale of pelts.

Another seemingly anomalous phase of this depression is the increased production of gold, of which the United States already has more than enough. This is explained by the fact that the purchasing power of gold has risen. Cheaper labor makes it profitable to work mines that were closed a few years ago.

In some areas unemployed men have gone back to placer mining on claims that were abandoned long ago.

Deer Hunter Kills Noted Actor Today

Ullrich Haupt Accidentally Shot According to Santa Maria Report

SANTA MARIA, Calif., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Ullrich Haupt, Inglewood, Cal., was shot and killed today by a deer hunter on Figueroa mountain, according to word received here. Details were lacking but it was said that Haupt was with a chauffeur at the time he was killed. The body was being carried down the mountain by pack train.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Ullrich Haupt, fatally shot today while hunting deer in the mountains near Santa Maria, Cal., was a prominent Hollywood character actor and left here on vacation shortly after he completed an important role in Ronald Colman's last picture.

Haupt lived in Inglewood with his wife and two sons, aged 13 and 8 years. According to Mrs. Haupt, who was married to the actor 22 years ago, the elder son and a chauffeur accompanied Haupt on the hunting trip.

Haupt, according to friends, was born in Germany 44 years ago and enjoyed success on the New York stage before coming to Hollywood.

Mrs. Haupt collapsed shortly after she received meager word from the mountain region. Her friends said Haupt, his son, and the chauffeur were in a party of about 10 German friends of the actor, all residents of Los Angeles or vicinity. It was said that a gun carried by someone in the party discharged accidentally.

Haupt's first picture in Hollywood was in "The Tempest" with John Barrymore. Other important roles included Da Rochemore in "The Iron Mask" with Douglas Fairbanks, and Prince Serge in "The Rogue Song" with Lawrence Tibbett.

LINDBERGH AND WIFE HELD UP BY RAIN STORM

Famous Couple Unable to Leave Aklavik Today, Radio Reports

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Storms on the rim of the Canadian arctic today prevented Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife from flying from Aklavik on another leg of their aerial vacation to the Orient.

Meager radio advices that broke through the wall of static from Aklavik to Edmonton said it was raining in the Mackenzie river delta outpost and the forecast was for still heavier storms.

The blanket of static that has lifted only momentarily since the famous aviator and his wife started flying over the barren reaches of northern Canada, prevented the powerful Edmonton radio station from getting into direct communication with the Aklavik station which is the only means of communication in the land of the midnight sun.

Fragmentary radio reports were relayed into Edmonton through Port Simpson, one of the many radio outposts maintained by the dominion government in the far north.

Reports from Point Barrow, Lindbergh's next scheduled stop, said heavy fog banks, so common this time of year within the arctic circle, were falling from the ice-sheathed ocean.

In contrast with the heat of the United States the temperature in Aklavik, where the Lindberghs remained as welcome guests of the trappers, Indians and Eskimos, was in the lower fifties. Farther up the coast toward Point Barrow the ocean was full of heavy ice and held back the United States revenue cutter Northland, which is battling fog and bergs with gasoline for the fliers.

The radio station at Aklavik was in communication with the Northland, 150 miles out of Point Barrow.

Latest reported plans of the flying colonel are to fly direct to the cutter, land nearby in open water, refuel, and then hop off for Nome.

That was indicated in a message picked up by the Edmonton radio station late last night, but could not be confirmed today owing to heavy static.

Slain Man's Widow Is On Stand Today

Permit Refutes Testimony That Crawford Did Not Own Revolver

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Charles Crawford, leading Los Angeles politician, once owned a gun of the same caliber that snuffed out his life and that of Herbert Spencer, newspaperman, attorneys for David H. Clark, on trial for Spencer's murder, said today.

Clark's counsel came to court today carrying an official police permit which allowed Crawford to carry a .38 caliber gun. The permit was granted March 8, 1929, because Crawford "feared for his life."

The permit was considered significant for Crawford's widow testified yesterday that he did not own a gun of that size.

Through the testimony of Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Spencer, the state sought to prove that Crawford and Spencer went unarmed to their deaths on May 20.

Both women testified that their husbands carried no guns the day they were shot down, asserted by Clark.

Clark, who was remanded to jail yesterday by order of Superior Judge Stanley Murray, trial jurist, apparently spent a restful night.

He was his usual well poised and nattily dressed person when court.

GERMAN FLYING BOAT LANDS AT BAHIA, BRAZIL

Will Continue Journey to New York City Making Several Stops

BAHIA, Brazil, Aug. 6.—(UP)—The DO-X, great German flying boat, paused here today on its way to New York from Rio de Janeiro.

The huge air liner carried a number of passengers on the northward flight, including two women, Mrs. Clara Adams and Mrs. Doris Von Clausbruck.

Mrs. Adams was the woman passenger on one east to west flight of the Graf Zeppelin, German dirigible. Mrs. Von Clausbruck was Miss Germany in the Rio de Janeiro international beauty contest last year.

Clarence H. (Dutch) Schildhauer, former United States navy lieutenant, piloted the DO-X on its flight from Rio de Janeiro. The machine was refueled here for the flight to Natal, on the northeast corner of the South American continent, with a stop for fuel at Maceio.

Its itinerary thence includes a flight by easy stages along the north coast to Para, at the mouth of the Amazon, and northward over the ocean to Cuba, Florida and New York.

The DO-X took off early in the morning for the second day of its northward flight.

CLIMAXING MORE THAN SIX WEEKS OF INVESTIGATION

Chief of Police Floyd Howard, federal agents and city police officers swooped through the business district late this afternoon, raiding the leading drug stores with warrants for arrest of three men on city complaints charging them with the sale of intoxicating liquor.

Druggists named in the warrants were: Ted Cook of the Santa Ana Drug company, corner Fourth and Main streets; E. L. Madden of Madden's Pharmacy, 314 North Sycamore street; and Ed Gersman at the Givens-Cannon Pharmacy, corner Seventeenth and Main streets.

In all three of the complaints the prisoners are accused of making sales on either July 29 or August.

The officers swept into the Santa Ana Drug company's store at 2:45 p. m. and took Cook into custody. With Cook under arrest officers and federal agents conducted a search of the premises for liquor stocks other than that authorized under federal permit.

Th next place visited was Madden's pharmacy. A search for liquor was conducted here, as was also the case at the Givens-Cannon store.

Evidence against the three men was gathered by undercover agents operating under direction of Chief of Police Howard. In each case purchases were made without prescriptions, it is declared.

The complaints charging the men with sale of intoxicating liquor, to-wit whiskey, were signed this afternoon by City Police Judge John Mitchell on informations filed by Chief Howard.

After the raids, those taken in custody were brought before Judge Mitchell. Bail of $500 was expected to be fixed by the court.

The raid, coming as it did at the peak of the afternoon shopping hours, created no little excitement in the downtown district. In the Santa Ana Drug company store, the officers conducted their search for liquor while clerks in the front part of the store continued to wait on customers at the sundries counters and the fountain.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN TO STAGE BULL FIGHT

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 6.—(UP)—"Charlie" — otherwise Charley Chaplin — wants to organize a "Charlotada" or comic bull fight.

Whether he intends to take part himself was not made clear in a telegram received today by local authorities from Chaplin by his arrival in Biarritz. But they hope so. In any event Chaplin promised to attend a regular bullfight in his honor next Sunday.

Chaplin is known through Spain and the Latin American countries as "Charlot," a nickname originated by French fans. The "Charlotada" which Chaplin's telegram said he would like to organize is an event to which Chaplin's screen art would be especially adapted.

REPRIEVES GIVEN TO TWO MURDERERS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Two condemned murderers were not moved to the "death cell" at Folsom prison today, as the result of last minute reprieves signed by Governor Rolph, giving the men a lease on life until October 2nd.

The slayers are Robert O'Neil and William Hudson, Los Angeles, who had been sentenced to die on the gallows tomorrow morning for the murder of Herman Calderwood, deputy Los Angeles city marshal, following a holdup.

Governor Rolph criticized the "peculiar attitude" of the prisoners' attorneys, who wrote to Warden Smith, informing him that an agreement had been reached not to appeal their case to the supreme court, and requesting him for permission to witness the hanging.

PORTLAND MILK WAR IS BROUGHT TO END

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 6.—(UP)—A war quiet on the far-flung Portland milk war front today.

The determined conflict between the wealthy distributing combine and 1500 striking producers had seen one dynamiting, one man sent to hospital with a fractured skull, thousands of gallons of "bootleg" milk "hijacked" and dumped, and hundreds of trucks and private cars halted and searched on the highways during the five days it existed.

A committee named by Mayor George L. Baker yesterday effected a compromise between the distributors and producers. A basic price of $2.17 1-2 an increase was agreed upon. Distributors agreed to buy milk only from members of the Dairymen's Co-operative association as soon as contracts with independents expire.

'LEGS' DIAMOND ON TRIAL IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(UP)—A polite beer merchant who persuaded Greene county roadhouse men to change their brand of lager merely by asking them if they wouldn't like to handle "Diamond's beer"—such is Jack (Legs) Diamond as pictured by the first six witnesses at his trial on bootlegging charges.

The characterization, guided by attorneys for the federal government, was not made without difficulty. Diamond, slight and chalky-faced, but nattily dressed in grey, sat at the counsel table and his stare appeared to make witnesses flidgett and suffer lapses of memory.

One witness had to have his memory refreshed by a transcript of his story before the grand jury.

AMERICAN FLIERS ON JAPANESE SOIL

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 6.—(UP)—The American fliers Clyde E. Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., landed on Japanese soil today on their way from Khabarovsk, Siberia, to Tokyo to start a non-stop flight across the Pacific to Seattle.

They touched at Haneda at 5:59 p. m. (3:50 a. m., E.S.T.), then proceeded almost immediately to Tachikawa airport, outside Tokyo.

ACCEPTS BLAME FOR 'WINE BRICKS' SALE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Karl Ocker, manager of the Vino Sano company, manufacturers of "wine bricks," today dispatched a long telegram to Attorney General William D. Mitchell, Washington, D. C., asserting that he, alone, was responsible for the sale of the grape preparation, and he, alone, should be prosecuted if sale of the concentrate is illegal.

The telegram, with a copy to Mabel Walker Willebrandt, counsel for Fruit Industries, Ltd., followed raids on a New York "wine brick" shop selling products of the San Francisco firm.

GOVERNOR MURRAY'S FATHER IS CALLED BOARDMAN, POLANDO MAY FLY PACIFIC

BETHANY, Okla., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Uriah Dow Thomas Murray, aged pioneer of the southwest plains country where his most famous son, Governor William H. Murray, was reared, was dead today.

An attack of influenza suffered 10 days ago was fatal last night at his home here. The governor, summoned when the family physician, Dr. C. W. Harper, reported the 91-year-old minister was sinking rapidly, did not arrive at the bedside until after death.

The climax to the Rev. Murray's career as farmer, soldier and minister came last January 12 when he administered the oath as governor to his wayward son, William, who as a boy of 12 years ran away from home to make his own way in the world.

SHOOT 2 OFFICERS THEN TRIES SUICIDE

FRAMINGHAM, Mass., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Earl T. Lord, 50, prominent Boston real estate dealer, forced his way into the home of his estranged wife today to see his five children, and, when she summoned police, he shot two officers and then attempted suicide.

Lord and one of the policemen were seriously wounded, but the names of neither were placed on the danger list at Framingham union hospital.

The real estate dealer shot himself in the chest. Patrolman Thomas Carpenter was shot in the neck, the bullet narrowly missing the jugular vein. Patrolman Benjamin Moss was shot in the left shoulder.

They will fly to Edmonton, Alt., stop overnight, then continue on to the southwest.

Their trimmed refueling plane piloted by Nick Greener and Jim Mattern, left here yesterday for White Horse and was to fly to Edmonton today.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS: LANDS CONSERVATIVELY VALUED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Lands conservatively valued at $500,000,000 were included in the decision of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur that Spanish land grants are valid and not subject to homestead claims, announced in Washington yesterday.

The decision represents a legal end to years of litigation and chronic outbursts of squatters, occasionally featured by brushes between squatters and sheriffs' deputies.

Homesteaders and squatters contended the grants had never been confirmed by congress and that the land was public domain.

Among the famous properties affected by the decision are the huge rancho Topanga Malibu Sequit, which includes the large and fabulously wealthy motion picture summer colony, Malibu beach.

SAYS SPANISH LAND GRANTS ARE VALID

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Charging that she was libeled in a printed account of her daughter's funeral, Mrs. Teresa Rubens, mother of Alma Rubens, late film star, today had a $1,000,000 suit on file here against a motion picture fan magazine.

The complaint alleged that the story of the funeral held Mrs. Rubens up to public ridicule in that the article declared "the mother, in order to give everyone a chance, had put a notice in the paper that the funeral would be public."

Mrs. Rubens also took exception to an alleged section of the article which declared she concealed the daughter's final illness from Ricardo Cortez, husband of Miss Rubens.

Alien Smuggling Ring Is Smashed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(UP)—The Department of Labor believes it has "broken the backbone" of a nation-wide alien smuggling ring held responsible for illegal entry of thousands of foreigners into this country.

Two men described by Secretary of Labor Doak as leaders in the scheme, three employees of the federal naturalization and immigration service, and four other alleged members of the ring have been arrested in New York. Further arrests are expected shortly in other cities having large foreign populations.

Doak described the scheme as "one of the greatest racketeers the country has ever seen."

STATE WILL DEPORT HOSPITAL INMATES

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—The population of California's state institutions is increasing at a rate that would require a new hospital every 19 months, it was declared today by Dr. J. M. Toner, state director of institutions.

As a result, 425 non-resident and alien inmates will be deported to other states and foreign countries, resulting in a saving of nearly $1,000,000, he said. Population of all institutions now number in excess of 20,000.

SLAIN MAN'S WIDOW IS ON STAND TODAY

opened this morning. His blonde wife, Nancy, was missing from the courtroom, however, and it was said that she was ill.

Attorneys for Clark, former deputy district attorney and once a candidate for municipal judge, considered Crawford's gun carrying permit especially significant since his widow testified that he never carried a gun until last December when he feared that he was jeopardized by an eastern kidnapping gang.

Leonard Wilson, one of Clark's attorneys, acted as counsel for one of the asserted gangsters, arrested on a charge of shooting down a Long Beach policeman. Wilson's client was acquitted.

The first witnesses today were Leon Driver, police photographer, and W. J. Clark, policeman. They testified as to where the bullet which killed Crawford was found in the wall and to various blood clots found in Crawford's office, the scene of the shootings.

Mrs. Frances Spencer, widow of the man with whose murder Clark is now charged, was recalled to the stand briefly.

She testified that she, herself, owned a .45 calibre gun bought for her by her husband. She said that the bullets in the clip were changed after her husband's murder by Eddie Romero, detective lieutenant. Romero was one of the men sent to guard her home after her husband was shot.

Mrs. Spencer said also that her husband always carried a gun while he was city editor of a local newspaper but after he went over as associate editor of a political magazine he frequently left it at home.

Laguna Man Hurt When Hit by Car

George A. Ragan, South Laguna, was slightly injured this morning when, according to a report on file at the police station, he walked in front of an automobile driven by Mrs. K. Seeburger of San Diego. Mrs. Seeburger took him to a nearby doctor's office for emergency treatment.

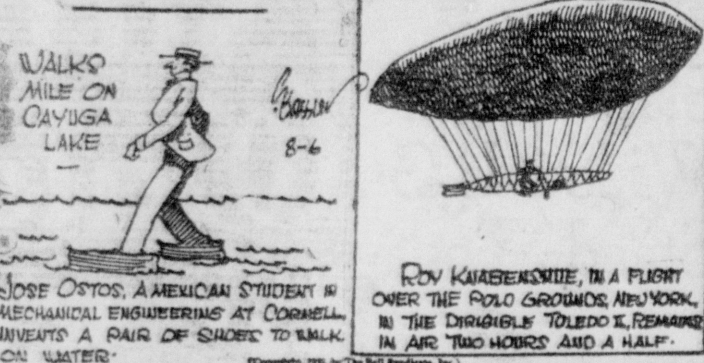

According to Mrs. Seeburger, she was driving north on Broadway and, at the Fourth street intersection, was a little slow in getting her car started when the bell signalled for traffic to start. Ragan and another man started across the street. The woman said that she made every effort to avoid striking the man and after the accident stopped her car and took the victim to the nearest doctor whose name she neglected to ascertain.

TWO BOYS HELD AFTER COLLISION

Two small boys with a craving for motoring and no automobile with which to satisfy this craving are in the juvenile home today to take someone's car when the urge for traveling makes itself felt.

The two brothers, ages 10 and 11 years, according to a police report, took an automobile belonging to Kenneth McIntyre from its parking place at Fifth and Parton streets yesterday and started for a ride. At the intersection of Washington and Ross streets they collided with a City taxicab, injuring Mrs. C. E. Bacon of 1621 Durant street, who was a passenger in the cab.

Mrs. Bacon was taken to the office of Dr. R. P. Yeagle, where she was given emergency treatment and sent to her home. The boys were turned over to the police who are holding them at juvenile home.

Davis and Wife Hurt In Collision

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Davis, of Anaheim, received minor cuts and bruises yesterday afternoon when the automobile driven by Davis collided with a car driven by Percy Smith, also of Anaheim. The accident occurred at the intersection of Ball road and Palm street near Anaheim.

According to Smith he did not see the approaching machine driven by Davis until too late to avoid a collision. Smith's automobile was turned completely around by the force of the impact and the Davis machine left the road and went into an orange grove.

shelved, pending conclusion of the cotton deal.

Experts seemed to believe that similar arrangements on wheat could be made only on a small scale.

The German acquiescence to Mr. Hoover's suggestions was expected to produce favorable repercussions in both Germany and the United States, both from the standpoint of public opinion and of economics.

Germany stands in need of both cotton and wheat, according to experts, and the purchase from America was expected to help in strengthening prices and developing confidence.

The offer stipulated, it was said, that it would be on a basis of a three-year credit. Cost of the cotton would be computed on a basis of a monthly average of prices on the New York cotton exchange, or the monthly average of the New York-Bremen and Liverpool exchanges. Pay would be in buyers' dollars notes at 4 1/2 per cent interest.

Readiness was expressed to pay on delivery of goods. The estimated value of the cotton involved in the German offer was between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000, it was said.

It was learned the United States had not made a specific offer, but had advised Germany that the farm board was ready to dispose of 1,000,000 bales of cotton and 1,225,000 tons of wheat in a long term credit basis and that it would accordingly welcome a German offer.

A report today said United States copper producers intend to seek a similar accord here.

DAIRYMEN ACT TO SET HIGHER MILK STANDARD

Recognizing the necessity of maintaining high quality standards in milk production, directors of the Orange County Farm Bureau dairy department, meeting last night in Ketter's cafe, unanimously passed a resolution urging necessary feed methods and cull their herds of poor quality cows so that the solids not fat percentage in milk being received by distributors could be raised.

Dr. R. A. Duckworth, administrative assistant of the state department of agriculture with jurisdiction over the animal industry department, was present at the meeting and outlined the mode of procedure in paying indemnity as disclosed in a bill passed by the last session of the state legislature which appropriated $418,000 to be used in paying for animals slaughtered that are infected with tuberculosis.

Theo. Hettig, director from Orange county to the Milk Surplus Plant in Los Angeles, reported that the base price paid producers has been reduced from 70 cents a pound butterfat to 65 cents and that this amount will be paid on an average of 80 per cent of the production. Producers will receive but 10 cents a pound on the remaining 20 per cent, it was revealed.

L. E. Evans, auditor for the Milk Surplus Plant, gave a report on the milk handled by the plant during the past few months and told of financial conditions of the plant. He declared that the surplus had diminished during the last month.

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, stressed the apparent need for a strong milk producers' association at present in order to standardize quality of milk and stabilize the market.

Besides those named above, those present at the meeting were E. A. Wakeham, chairman of the dairy department, William Segerstrom, Antonio Borchard, R. F. Hazard, and J. J. Denni, directors, R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Farm Bureau, Dr. Edward Lee Russell, of the Orange County health department, and John Bligh, Orange county dairy inspector, who gave a number of pointers on the conditions of herds in the county.

COURT ACTION IN OKLAHOMA WAR PREDICTED

reaches $1 a barrel. It is now 50 cents, having gone up from 23 since the governor went into action.

Cicero Murray, the dapper lieutenant colonel who got his commission just for the purpose of directing the troops in this action, was in command of the guardsmen. Wearing his new uniform, purchased only yesterday, he drove over the fields or sat in his headquarters in a dairy barn in the Oklahoma City field.

Cicero's cousin, "Alfalfa Bill," meanwhile defied any "inferior federal court" to interfere with what he terms the rights of the sovereign state of Oklahoma.

His declaration: "I wouldn't hesitate to arrest any court attempting to violate the intent of my order," showed clearly how he intended to meet injunctions. He says he will bow to the will of the United States Supreme court or the president of the United States, but to no one else.

SLOT MACHINE CASE GOES TO JURY TODAY

BULLETIN

A verdict of not guilty was returned just before 3 o'clock by the jury which heard the evidence in the Ireland trial at Costa Mesa. The jury required 10 minutes for its deliberations and vote.

With the jury expected to return a verdict sometime this afternoon on the trial of W. F. Ireland of Balboa Beach, charged with gambling by the use of a slot machine, attorneys for the county and defense delivered their final arguments to the jury before the noon recess and then continued their appeals after the adjournment in the court of Justice of the Peace Donald Dodge of Costa Mesa.

Preston Turner, deputy district attorney conducting the prosecution for the county, in his talk to the jury stressed the facts of the case and the evidence presented. By referring to a slot machine, which had been introduced as evidence, he pointed out that use of the machine was gambling because the operator was staking his money on the chance of winning more. He said that the operator does not know what he will receive in return on the following operation, which constitutes a hazard and chance.

David Wettlin, who with Tom McFadden is conducting the defense for Ireland, attempted to prove to the jury in his appeal that a slot machine was not a gambling device and that if it was, all vending machines of gum, toothbrushes, candy and similar articles were in the same classification.

The defense attorneys repeatedly conferred with Henry T. Foust, owner of the machines in Orange county, who has been present on both days of the trial. Ireland, the defendant, sat impassively apart during the selection of a jury and cross-examination and seemed content to let Foust aid his counsel. The jury panel was completed late yesterday afternoon.

Sheriff Logan Jackson and his aided made the raid in the beach city in which Ireland was arrested on July 27.

Those arrested, including Ireland, were lodged in the Orange county jail on charges of violating the state penal code, but were later released on bail, which it is reported was furnished by Foust.

Herman J. Zabel, chief of the county identification bureau, who made the arrest of Ireland, was called to the stand and operated the slot machine taken from Ireland's soft drink stand. Turner made the request that he duplicate his acts on the night of the arrest and McFadden furnished the money. The only conflict in testimony came between Zabel and Mrs. Lillian Ireland, wife of the defendant, who was present at the time of the arrest. Mrs. Ireland testified that Zabel used chips in the machine while Zabel said he used nickels and received mints. Evidence was given that mints were received only with nickels. It was also shown that the arresting officers traded chips for merchandise.

McFadden, who conducted the cross examination of witnesses, called Foust to the stand. Foust admitted that the machines were constructed to return a profit, that the checks were redeemable in trade, that coins returned mints and also that the pictures of fruit on the revolving rolls were for the amusement of the operator.

A distinct victory was gained by Turner and the prosecution when he successfully balked a move by McFadden to have Justice Dodge advise the jury to find Ireland not guilty.

A second slot machine case scheduled for today, that of the state against H. Leonard of Balboa Beach, was postponed until September 1. It was informally agreed between opposing attorneys that in all the succeeding cases, where the evidence is the same as the Ireland case, the same testimony would be used to save time and expense.

Although 12 jurors were selected yesterday, only 11 heard the case. C. T. Scher, an undertaker in Costa Mesa, was released this morning because his services were needed in emergency. The other members of the jury are Edwin N. Gage, H. P. Windringer, Mrs. Bertha Polz, John Buttram, R. Robert Leahy, F. M. Snook, W. B. Rochester, R. A. Baker, I. E. Osling, Mrs. C. L. Armstrong, T. E. McFadden and W. J. Arundell. It was understood that two of these persons formerly worked in or owned an establishment where a slot machine was operated.

LOCAL GROCER BESTS BANDIT WITH BOTTLE

Stepping into the rear yard of his grocery store at 904 East Washington street last night, Ole Campbell was attacked by a youthful bandit who slugged him and threatened his life when Campbell made a show of resistance. Police were called but were unable to find a trace of the man who fled before the onslaught of his intended victim.

According to Campbell's story to the police, he stepped into the rear yard of the grocery shortly after 8 o'clock last night to empty a bottle of soured milk.

While he was disposing of the milk a man walked up behind him and said:

"Stick 'em up."

Campbell alleges that he wheeled and told the would-be robber to "Go to —." Whipping a blunt instrument from his pocket, the thug struck Campbell across the forehead. The grocer went into action with the empty milk bottle and drove his assailant from the yard.

As his attacker fled the grocer man said he shouted back that he would "Come back and kill you for that."

Campbell described the holdup man as young and blonde. He was hatless and wore a dark coat and light trousers.

Officers Buckles and Swan investigated the attempted robbery.

Film Writer Says She's First Aviatrice

Someone is always trying to take the joy out of life. After Dr. Bessica Raiche, of Santa Ana, had been officially heralded as the first woman to make an airplane flight in the United States, now comes along Blanche Stuart Scott, Hollywood scenario writer, who, she declared, is the first woman to fly in an airplane.

Along with the announcement of the belief, however, comes the statement that no definite document is among those in Miss Scott's possession to prove that she took to the air before September 16, 1910, the date of Dr. Raiche's historic Long Island flight. Dr. Raiche still holds the title of the first woman to make a flight in an airplane.

CONSTRUCTION OF BAY BRIDGE TO START SOON

Construction work on steel and concrete bridge across the north arm of Newport Bay near Newport Beach on the Coast highway will probably start within 15 days, it was revealed today by S. V. Cortelyou, state district engineer who is in Santa Ana conferring with Nat H. Neff, county superintendent of roads.

Bids on the bridge were received yesterday by the state department of public works when it was revealed that S. J. Metzgar and Son, of San Gabriel, were low bidders with a price of $65,349.

Cortelyou declared today that under the new terms of the contracts granted by the state construction work must be started within 15 days after the signing of the contract. While the contract, to Cortelyou's knowledge, has not been signed today, he declared that Metzgar would probably be awarded the bid immediately as the lowest responsible bidder gets the contract.

$11,500 DAMAGES SOUGHT BY SAILOR

Asking $11,500 damages, Jesse Lee Baxter of the U. S. S. Relief, stationed at San Diego, today had brought suit against the Pacific Greyhound lines and John Weston as a result of the accident on February 5 near Serra, in which a large bus burned. Baxter claimed in the complaint that the driver of the stage abandoned it while he was in it and that he was burned. After he had been taken to a hospital, Baxter said he was approached by someone who offered him $48 in payment for his burned uniform, that he took the money and signed what he thought was a receipt. He now suspects that he signed a release for the transportation company, the complaint said.

RULE AGAINST SLOT MACHINES AT CLEMENTE

There will be no slot machines or punch boards in San Clemente. The Spanish village city council voted to "postpone indefinitely" action on the ordinance designed to license the machines and boards and which was presented for first reading last month.

The fight against the gambling devices was launched by Ole Hanson, founder of the community, who declared that the people of his city did not want slot machines and punch boards.

A mass meeting was called at which the boards and machines were severely condemned by civic leaders. Members of the city council expressed themselves as being opposed to the ordinance, but stated that certain business men had urged that the ordinance be adopted. Last night's action means that slot machines and boards cannot operate in San Clemente. Hamilton H. Cotton, widely known capitalist, was appointed a member of the city council last night, after Ole Hanson, Jr., who has served since the city was incorporated, resigned. Hanson, Jr., has charge of a new office opened in Los Angeles and will spend most of his time there. He was thanked for his services.

Cotton was southern California democratic chairman in 1912 and 1916. He was southern California campaign manager for William Gibbs McAdoo in the 1924 presidential race.

The city's first budget was adopted. It calls for the expenditure of $77,136, the income for the fiscal year being estimated at $87,600.

A deed to water rights on the A. Goldschmidt property, located east of the city's water well near the golf club grounds, was presented by the board by Cotton. An easement for a reservoir also was given the council.

Hereafter the council will meet the first and third Friday nights of each month. The board voted to charge the school district $75 per year for the school house.

WALLACE TO DIRECT

Richard Wallace, director of "Innocents of Paris," and now "The Road to Reno," will direct Ruth Chatterton in Philip Barry's "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" for Paramount.

Sally O'Neil, absent from the screen for a number of months, is making a new bid for talking picture fame in Paramount's "Murder by the Clock."

FINAL FIGURES SHOW COUNTY ASSESSED VALUES DROP TO $158,076,410

Final figures on Orange county's assessed valuation for 1931-1932, as released today by County Auditor W. T. Lambert, showed that while many districts, particularly in oil regions, have suffered losses, the largest decreases are not so glaring as first indications suggested.

The county as a whole has a decrease on taxable property assessed amounting to $19,880,220. This year's assessed value is $158,076,410, as against $177,956,630 for last year.

Santa Ana has an assessed valuation of $20,253,010, compared to $21,982,015 for last year. Figures for other incorporated cities, with those of last year are:

Anaheim, $7,402,075, last year, $7,188,260; Brea, $1,200,170, last year, $1,173,575; Fullerton, $1,556,140, last year, $1,566,140; Huntington Beach, $8,334,390, last year, $8,181,810; Laguna Beach, $3,180,485, last year, $3,346,045; La Habra, $932,940, last year, $1,066,720; Newport Beach, $5,959,890, last year, $6,845,890; Orange, $5,425,550, last year, $5,922,695; Placentia, $419,875, last year, $467,820; San Clemente, $1,554,085, last year, $1,617,560; Seal Beach, $1,725,310, last year, $1,881,585, and Tustin, $557,300 last year $606,800.

Two main causes for the drop in assessed valuation are the 10 per cent cut made by County Assessor James Sleeper because of present business conditions, and the drop in value of oil properties.

Figures for various districts are as follows:

School Districts

Alamitos, $699,730, last year, $746,345; Anaheim, $9,358,765, last year, $10,242,015; Brea, $1,045,005, last year, $1,152,440; Buena Park, $2,287,105, last year, $2,391,970; Centralia, $888,085, last year, $983,420; Commonwealth, $1,236,785, last year, $1,322,090; Cypress, $3,282,960, last year, $3,387,070; Diamond, $895,735, last year, $943,170; El Modena, $2,087,415, last year, $2,174,500; El Toro, $795,555, last year, $801,010; Fairview, $890,775, last year, $984,510; Fountain Valley, $670,025, last year, $648,015; Fullerton, $12,095,030, last year, $13,239,975; Garden Grove, $3,251,010, last year, $3,629,930; Greenville, $518,365, last year, $582,250; Harper, $1,455,750, last year, $1,617,810; Huntington Beach, $16,461,485, last year, $21,168,430.

LAGUNA BEACH COUNCIL HITS SLOT MACHINES

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—The Laguna Beach city council last night sounded the death knell of slot machines here when it passed on third reading an ordinance repealing section 24 of the license law.

Licenses for most of the machines now in operation here run until the first of next year and some run into the following spring. But after the licenses expire they will not be renewed, councilmen made plain.

Passing to second reading, by title only, an ordinance to regulate the hours during which dance halls may operate, the city council struck a blow at midnight carousing in Laguna Beach. According to members of the council the ordinance will be passed on second and third readings at the next meeting, which will make it a law. The deadline will be 12 o'clock, it was stated, although the draft of the ordinance was not read at last night's meeting.

Mayor J. E. Bishop said later: "Ordinance closes all dance halls outside of municipal territory at midnight and the cities should do the same. Balboa has been having trouble with the drinking problem and we have had our own troubles here. One youthful employee of the dance hall here, under the age of 18, was arrested recently on a charge of possession. He admitted that he had sold liquor and told the officers where they could find 14 pints he had hidden. On another occasion an attempt was made to sell liquor to one of our officers. There have been numerous cases of intoxication and possession among people from out of town who come here late to dance. Laguna Beach is not catering to the class of people who do these things. Up to midnight the crowds at the dance hall are composed of the very best people in this section and they are orderly and behave like ladies and gentlemen. We want them to come here, but the other crowd must stay out."

The "nuisance" ordinance, aimed to take care of emergencies, also passed on final reading. Cats gained a few more lives when it was discovered that the amendments to the domestic animal ordinance did not provide for their free roving. A new ordinance was passed on first and second readings and cannot become final until the next meeting.

Conforming to a suggestion by the Garden club, Councilman C. R. Clapp, commissioner of streets and roads, was instructed to replace two trees that had died in the Anna A. Hills Memorial row on Coast boulevard and one on Forest avenue broken off by an automobile.

Police Commissioner M. B. McMillan was instructed to take up with the chief of police the matter of providing traffic signs to conform with the provisions of the law which go into effect August 14.

The report of City Clerk George W. Prior showed a balance of $19,412.13 in all funds as of August 1. The R. G. Crenshaw company was awarded a contract to audit the city's books at a cost of $225 to bring them up to date and $50 per quarter for quarterly and annual reports in the future.

Woman Supports Einstein Theory

SAN FRANCISCO.—The new Einstein concept of the universe has found the support of a woman.

Recent studies at Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton have convinced Miss Lois Slocum, former astronomy student at the University of California and now an assistant professor at Wellesley college, that the German scientist is correct.

She reported her observations indicated the universe is merely one of millions of spiral nebulae whirling through space. The myriads of stars to be seen with the naked eye and the millions more visible through a telescope suggest, she said, that they are but sparks on a giant pinwheel.

SONTAG STORE OPENING FRIDAY

A new drug store for Santa Ana, a unit of the Sontag chain, is scheduled to make its introductory bow to Santa Ana residents tomorrow morning. The store opens in the room at 114 East Fourth street formerly occupied by George Edgar.

SUCCESS BASED ON CHARACTER. AUDIENCE TOLD

"Success is the golden dream of youth," declared Evangelist John Brown last night when he delivered his message on the theme of the prodigal son leaving home. "You can be a success, if you build your character on the faith of Jesus Christ," the evangelist said.

Every seat in the tabernacle was filled and many were standing in the back of the building. Following the fine hymnal singing by the choir and congregation, the Arkansas Travelers quartet sang "Wandering Child Come Home." As a special feature the audience was entertained last night by a mixed quartet from the choir, which sang "Hear the Invitation."

JOHN BROWN SERVICES
Tonight at 7:30—Message on "The Prodigal Son to Now"; continuation of last night's message.
Tomorrow morning at 9:30—Brown will speak on the topic "Will a Man Rob God?"
Tomorrow night at 7:30—"How May I Know Christ?"
Saturday afternoon at 2:45—A service for women only. Subject "The Great Woman."
Saturday night at 7:30—"How to Live the Christian Life." Special music is arranged by Elden Farrar.
Sunday afternoon, 2:45—"Chickens Come Home to Roost." A special meeting for women will be held at the Christian Missionary Alliance church. Mrs. Elden Farrar will talk on "Esther the Faithful."
Sunday night at 7:30—Brown's subject will be on "The Harvest Past; the Summer Ended."

The center section was entirely filled with a delegation of men and boys.

Reading two verses from the 15th chapter according to St. Luke, beginning with the 11th verse, Brown took as his underlying text the words, "And he divided unto them his living."

"The prodigal son in the Bible was not a prodigal and wayward son when he left his father's house," he began. "He was a clean, upstanding, ambitious young man who went out into the world to make a name for himself. Why did this young man who started with every possible advantage end up in the swine pen? He lacked the essential link in his make-up called character."

Need Hard Push
"Success does not come in a young man's life by accident. There are worlds of boys waiting to have a pull when they need a push and a good hard one. Success is waiting for everyone who is ready to pay the price. Thousands of young men in this city will end in the gutters of tragedy if they keep on in their present direction."

"Some young men say, 'I can not be a success because I can't get an education.' Education by itself does not spell out a successful life. Some of the worst rascals in America have passed the last word in schools."

"The seven greatest men who towered over the rest of the nation during the last half of the 19th century never saw the inside of a college. They were Mark Twain, Walt Whitman, Horace Greeley, Abraham Lincoln, Commodore Vanderbilt, Thomas Edison and D. L. Moody."

Character Needed
"Youth has the idea today that if they could only get through school their success would be made. Education is not worth a cipher with the hoop knocked off unless you have something underneath it. The trouble with the prodigal son was that he left God out of his program. The crying need of our youth is character. The vital question propounded to young men used to be 'What is your education?' but now it is 'What is your character?'"

Records Show Population Gain of 19

Population of Santa Ana showed a gain of 19 during the month of July, according to vital statistics compiled by the Orange county health department. Records show that there were 39 births registered and 20 deaths registered at the department.

There never was a time in the history of the world when there was a greater demand for character than now.

"Success is out for the boy or girl who builds clean. You can't build character in a season, but it must grow like the mighty oak tree."

"Education without God is the most serious menace in the world." Scoring evolution, Brown said that the evolutionist rejected every Christian belief. "How can you build character without Christ?" shouted Brown.

Too many boys are not being brought up by their fathers, but are drifting along behind dad, he declared. In his final plea, Brown asked the fathers to come clean for Christ and set a clean-cut example for their boys.

Laguna Realtors Elect Director

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—George William Smith was elected to serve as state director of the California Real Estate association at the meeting of the Realty board held Tuesday at the White House cafe. Mrs. Agnes Yoch West was named as delegate to the state convention to be held in Long Beach in October, with Roy M. Ropp as alternate.

Ernest S. Wooster, deputy county auditor, named as judge of the home town contest elimination trials, made suggestions as to the subject matter of the five-minute speeches in a letter to the board. Fifteen realtors will compete for the honor of winning the cup offered by the association and which has been won by Long Beach three consecutive years.

Hallen Cooley, of movie fame, who is subdividing Three Arch bay, south of Three Arches, was the speaker of the day, giving a brief history of the subdivisions south of Coast Royal.

John Jehle, who has just returned from an eastern trip, will be the main speaker at the next meeting.

SONTAG CHAIN OPENS STORE IN SANTA ANA

Opening of the first Sontag store at 114 East Fourth street tomorrow, in the building where George A. Edgar conducted a grocery business of nearly half a century, was announced today by Joe Penna, local manager.

According to Penna, three important factors mark the successful operation of the Sontag stores. The first of these factors, Penna declared, is service, which he declared is of prime importance in building a business with a firm foundation.

Quality is the twin necessity of service, the management believes, and the selection of nationally advertised merchandise is based on a knowledge of shoppers' preferences and the determination of the management to supply their demands.

Low price is a third factor in these days of thrifty buying and completes the perfect triangle of the Sontag concern, it was said. The local store will carry 11,000 different items—cold creams, powders, perfumes, drug sundries, medicines and lotions, household necessities and many other items.

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Mr. J. P. Burke, Editor Santa Ana Register, Santa Ana, California. Dear Mr. Burke:

Our city council should be publicly commended for correctly analyzing the proposition of power from the Colorado river dam. The fact that they gracefully declined to contract for power shows an insight and a knowledge of the trends of engineering and economics. Under pressure these men have kept a level head and correctly solved a momentous question. This city for the next 50 years can well afford to thank the present city council.

Very truly yours,
JOE S. MITCHENER.

FILES PROTEST ON ALAMITOS BRIDGE PLAN

H. C. Flint, Long Beach physician, doesn't want a bridge built over the Alamitos bay channel, as contemplated by Los Angeles and Orange counties in an agreement with the city of Seal Beach. Dr. Flint voted his objection to the Orange county board of supervisors this week in a letter which said he did not believe such a bridge would be necessary for the next 10 years.

He asked the board to withdraw its support for the project, which he characterized as a "political scheme which, if carried out, will benefit a few real estate owners and several politicians at the expense of the overburdened taxpayer."

Further negotiations are being carried on in regard to the bridge. Orange county taking the position that it does not care to go ahead with the project under the present arrangement, whereby it would make its share of the money available at once, although construction would not start for some time. The plan originally called for an appropriation of $25,000 from Orange county to be available immediately, while the work was not to start for a period of at least 60 days. Supervisors balked at this arrangement, however.

HAYS AWARDED DEGREE FROM UNDERWRITERS

Gene Hays, life insurance man of this city and associate manager of the Hays Life Insurance agency, has just been notified that he has been awarded the degree of "Chartered Life Underwriter," it was learned today.

This degree is awarded by the American College of Life Underwriters, which is a part of the University of Pennsylvania, located at Philadelphia. This distinction is especially pronounced due to the fact that there are only 20 such degrees in Southern California and Hays is the only one holding the honor in Orange county.

Dr. S. S. Huebner, educator of national prominence and dean of the American College of Life Underwriters, notified Hays of his award. This degree is only available to those who meet certain qualifications. Among some of them are, higher education, one year or more of intensive training of a highly specialized nature, and at least five years of successful and ethical life underwriting.

The special training includes courses in mathematics of rate making, psychology, economics, wills, trusts and estates, commercial law, American government, taxation, sociology, investments and finance and estate analyses. This course of training was followed by a week of examinations taken at the University of Southern California last June.

The purpose of the degree is to give recognition to those life underwriters throughout the country who are successful in their profession and show a thorough knowledge of business and financial problems. Out of several hundred thousand life insurance men and women in the United States only approximately 400 have the distinction of this award.

Rolla R. Hays, Jr., president of the Life Underwriters association of Orange county, has completed most of the requirements necessary for this degree and will complete the balance of them within a short time, it was learned.

Lack of Water Allows Intrusion Of Sea up River

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Salt water is coming up the Sacramento river at the rate of three-fourths of a mile daily according to Haslow Stafford, water supervisor in the state engineer's office.

The incursion is attributed to the lack of water in the river, the flow having dropped from 800 second feet on July 1 to virtually zero.

At this rate the salt water would reach Sacramento in less than 60 days, but engineers believe that irrigation waters to be released shortly will drive the salt water back.

End Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that McCoy Drug Co. says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.

SCOUT LEADER TELLS DETAILS OF ROVER TRIP

Declaring that the recently concluded Rover trip was one of the most successful projects from every angle that the Orange County Scout Council has ever sponsored, Harrison E. White, scout executive, today revealed details of the trip in which 15 picked scouts, Christy T. Allen, assistant executive, Harold Goddard and himself were participants.

The first stop was made when the group camped out in a field near Paso Robles. The next morning the group went on a sightseeing trip on the famous 17-mile drive to Carmel.

The group arrived in San Francisco the second day and stayed in Camp Lillenthal in that city the second night. Out of San Francisco a great deal of hot weather was encountered, the thermometer rising to over 110 degrees during the first day out.

The giant redwood territory was reached the third day and the boys spent the day around Richardson grove and enjoyed swimming in the Eel river. The next day the group visited the huge salmon cannery on the Klamath river. One of the large fish was given the scouts and furnished the main item on the noon menu.

The only remaining Indian country in the west was visited by the group, where they obtained the first sight of a wild bear. They spent two nights among the redwoods. A feature of the trip was a visit to the largest redwood mill in the world, where they saw logging from every angle. A visit to a cheese factory between Brookings and Gold Beach in Oregon also was made.

Get Deer Meat

The group arrived at Gold Beach, Oregon, on the fifth day and crossed the Rogue river on an ancient ferry. An amusing incident occurred while crossing the river when one of the boys was thrown into the river. The game warden at Gold Beach had apprehended two poachers who had shot a deer, the carcass of which was given the boy scouts. Several meals of venison steak and stew were obtained from the meat. The thermometer hovered around 50 degrees while in Gold Beach.

A whaling station at Trinidad, Calif., was visited on the way home and the group stopped to fish in the Klamath river. Unusual courtesy was shown the group by farmers along the road, who gave the boys corn and other "crops" to vary their menu. One of the most striking features of the trip was a visit through San Quentin prison.

On the way home the boys camped in Golden Gate park in San Francisco, an unusual courtesy, as no campers are allowed in the park usually. Side trips to Chinatown, on a large boat and other points of interest were made while in that city.

The trip was made on a truck that carried the boys and their leaders and camping equipment.

The Rev. and Mrs. Thompson Eade, assistants at the Angelus temple, Almee McPherson's church in Los Angeles, will fill the regular pastors, it is announced.

The Rev. Mr. Parham is supervisor of the Four Square work in Orange county.

When you buy tires be sure you get the tire that will give you most for your money.

Be sure you get the tire so far ahead in quality and value that it is outstandingly the first-choice tire of the world.

That tire is the Goodyear Tire. For 16 years it has been true that "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

Recently a great and unbiased public institution completed a nation-wide survey, asking American car owners "What tire is best?"

The vote, representing every section and uninfluenced in any way, shows a preference for Goodyear Tires nearly 2 1/4 times that for the second tire, and five times the average preference for all other makes.

No thinking man will allow mere sales talk to weigh against public testimony like that.

Just keep firmly in mind that Goodyears enjoy leadership because they give the user something extra, and that the user gets that something extra today at no premium in price.

When the high-pressure dealer seeks to sell you a second-choice tire against your better judgment, protect yourself by asking him this simple question:

"Why should I buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?"

Decide Dates Soon For Santa Ana-Anaheim Series

CONFERENCE OF MANAGERS DUE IN FEW DAYS

That Santa Ana-Anaheim playoff for the 1931 championship of the National Night Baseball league probably will be a three-out-of-five series, beginning either Monday, August 24, or Tuesday, August 25.

According to John Wilcox, business manager of the Santa Ana club, there is a league rule which would prohibit a brief or a longer series. It will be remembered that the Santa Ana-Whittier playoff was a three-out-of-five affair last summer, the Stars taking three games in succession.

Wilcox said he would communicate with George Pace, manager at Anaheim, and George Peterkin, president of the league, as soon as Anaheim has definitely clinched the second-half championship. The Valencias are as good as "in" now, needing only to win from Pullerton Friday to clinch a tie for first place.

Where and when the series opens will be decided at the Wilcox-Peterkin conference. It is taken for granted that both managers will be anxious to complete the playoff as rapidly as possible so the winner can prepare for its longer four-out-of-seven series against the American Night league champion, probably Colton. The inland circuit

PASADENA COURT SENSATION

He lost out in the finals to Sidney B. Wood, Jr., last year, but this time slender Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena vowed he would have that Seabright tennis championship even if he had to defeat a champion to get it. And so he did. Vines fought courageously to overcome an early lead of John Hope Doeg, U. S. champion, and won the Seabright mug which he is shown holding. The Pasadena youngster is only 19 and a likely prospect for future Davis Cup teams.

Net Players Near End Of S.A. Tourney

Two important matches were to be decided today in the fourth annual Santa Ana city tennis tournament which closes this week.

John Cress and Arno Finster were to clash at 3:30 p. m., finishing a match begun yesterday and called on account of darkness. Randolph Bell, defending titleholder, and Lewis Wetherell meet at 5 p. m. in a semi-final match.

Cress and Finster had a set apiece and were tied when their match was postponed. They will begin the third set all over again, it was announced. Finster took the first 7-5, Cress the second 6-3. Their tennis was considered the best that has thus far been played in the tournament.

Verd Moyer will face the winner of the Cress-Finster contest Friday. Finals are scheduled for Sunday at 4 p. m.

ROSENBLOOM KEEPS LIGHT HEAVY TITLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Maxie Rosenbloom again has proved his right to the world's light heavyweight boxing championship, and unless a more capable contender than Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo can be developed a moratorium on title bouts in the 175-pound division is in order.

Rosenbloom's decisive victory over Slattery in a 16-round bout at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, last night, effectively eliminated the Buffalo battler as a championship contender. In addition it effectively eliminated all desire of the 7000 spectators who witnessed the dreary contest to see any more such title defenses by Rosenbloom.

The bout unquestionably was one of the sport's ever glorified "world's championship" billings and was as far removed from the stirring titular battles of light heavyweight history as were the gate receipts of $30,000 from the $450,000 record established by Paul Benienbach and Jack Delaney when the 175-pound title was last risked at Ebbets field in 1926.

Boxing promoters were advised by the state athletic commission today to conduct no further negotiations with Carners for contests in this state, and to confer with the commission before making any plans to book the giant Italian.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Primo Carners will not be allowed to box in New Jersey again except against opponents of known ability, courage and honor.

Boxing promoters were advised by the state athletic commission today to conduct no further negotiations with Carners for contests in this state, and to confer with the commission before making any plans to book the giant Italian.

LOTT, MANGIN MOOSE DEFEAT MAY SURPRISE SPURGEON M. E. TENNIS CRITICS TEAM. 10 TO 2

By MICHAEL J. FOSTER
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Two "veterans"—neither has reached his middle twenties yet—who have been traveling nowhere along the big-time tennis road this summer, are presented with splendid opportunities to make up for past failures here over the weekend.

One is Gregory Mangin, who paid his own way to Europe two months ago, hopeful of shining brilliantly enough at Wimbledon to earn a Davis Cup berth. He lost to G. Lyttleton Rogers in the first round.

The other is George Lott, the "Peck's Bad Boy" of tennis. Lott has progressed in doubles—he won the world's championship paired with Johnny Van Ryn—but his climb upward in tandem ranking has been matched by his slide the other way in singles.

Tomorrow, when the semi-finals of the Meadow club's annual invitation tournament are held, Mangin and Lott will both be afforded chances to give their critics the merry ha-ha.

Mangin, conqueror of Johnny Doeg, the National champion, in the fourth round, will play the highly touted, No. 5 ranking, Clifford Sutter, in the upper semi's brackets. Lott will clash with the Pasadena cyclone, Ellsworth Vines.

Neither is expected to win, Sutter, who has beaten Mangin in all three of their matches to date, is "hot" right now, as his straight set victory over Gledhill would indicate.

And Vines—well, there just isn't anybody playing tennis in the United States right now who would be a favorite against the Seabright and Longwood winner. Lott should extend the Californian, in the way the boys on the Meadow club veranda figured it this morning, but the odds are on Doeg's too-time conqueror.

Mangin and Lott can't see it that way, however. Greg is out to win himself a higher ranking than his present No. 6 post. He hasn't done much in that direction so far, but a win over Sutter, who tops him one place in the rankings, and a victory in the final over the Vines-Lott winner, would be a big step forward.

'WILD MAN' STOPS CARDOZA IN FIRST

Wilmington Bowl matchmakers today planned a pair "Wild Man" Macias, Santa Ana Mexican welterweight, with Eddie Murdoch for an early 10-round main event as a result of Macias' quick knockout of Joe Cardoza there last night.

Meeting for the third time in a "rubber" fight, Macias went after Cardoza from the first bell and had Joe on the floor from a left hook for a seven count, belted him about, cuffed him and then directed a shot right above Cardoza's eyes and Joe called it quits.

The punch was not as convincing as the thump Cardoza got when his head bounced off the floor. It was several minutes before he was revived sufficiently to make the dressing room.

Preceding the feature, Bobby O'Hara of Santa Ana and "Bang" Dunham, welter, stepped 10 rounds with O'Hara declared the winner.

PICK CALIFORNIANS TO OPPOSE BRITAIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Three Californians, Mrs. Helen Willis Moody, Miss Helen Jacobs and Mrs. L. A. Harper, have been named by the United States Lawn Tennis association to carry the singles burden in the ninth and annual Wightman Cup matches with Great Britain at Forest Hills, Friday and Saturday.

The three players will compete in all of the five singles competitions. Mrs. Moody will meet Miss Phyllis Mudford Friday and Miss Betty Nuttall Saturday. Miss Jacobs will play Miss Nuttall Friday and Miss Mudford Saturday, with Mrs. Harper playing the remaining singles match against Miss Dorothy Round Friday.

Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Harper also will compete in the doubles, pairing for a match with Mrs. Fearnley-Whittingstall and Miss Nuttall. The other doubles match will be played by Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman and Miss Sarah Palfrey against the British team of Mrs. Sheppard-Barron and Miss Mudford.

BALL TEAM SEES COUNTRY

The House of David baseball team expects to cover about 25,000 miles in fulfilling its baseball schedule of night contests untested in this state, and to confer with the commission before making any plans to book the giant Italian.

Throttling the Spurgeon M. E.'s with one hit, a last inning single by Lecl Slaback, Pitcher Bill Humphries hurled the Moose lodge one step closer to the second half championship of the Santa Ana City league at the Bowl last night.

Humphries had a no-hit, no-run game on his hip until the last of the seventh, when Slaback led off with his bingle and Jenks got a life on an error by Humphries himself. They both made the rounds before the side was retired.

The Moose won, however, 10 to 2, scoring in all but one inning of veteran Earl Jones, who recently handed the first half championship Hill-Cardens their only defeat of the whole season's campaign. Jones wasn't hit hard, but five errors, most of them in the pinches, cost him all chance of turning in another upset win. Short's homer in the fourth was a feature.

Hawley's Sporting Goods virtually eliminated the First Presbyterians from title contention in the second game of the doubleheader, defeating the churchmen 10-8, with stirring rallies in the last three rounds. The Presbyterians were sailing out in front, 7-0, until the Hawleys ran amuck in the fifth and tied the score with a seven run attack. Both sides made runs in the sixth, but the Sportsmen had enough punch left to mark twice in the seventh while Rebolin was holding the Presbyterians scoreless.

Jimmy Klepper's double and Harold Kipper's home run accounted for the winning runs. Klepper tallied on Kipper's double, Kipper being thrown out trying for three bases on his blow. Two games again tonight: Public Playgrounds vs. Monroe's pharmacy, 7 p. m.; Baptists vs. Hill and Carden, 8 p. m.

THOMPSON ORDERED TO SIGN FOR BOUT

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Jack Thompson of Chicago, world's welterweight boxing champion, was notified today by the New York state athletic commission that he will be suspended here unless he signs to defend his title within 15 days.

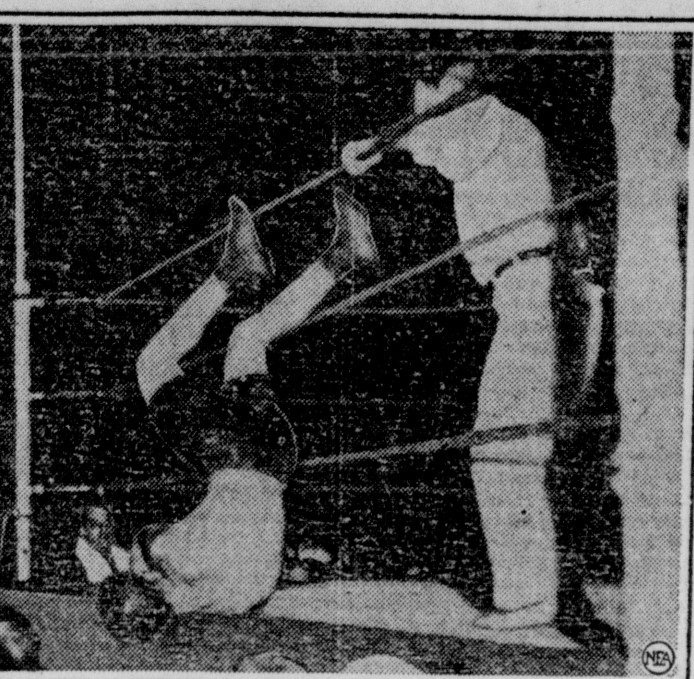

The warning to Thompson was voted by the commission yesterday in accordance with a corresponding ruling by the California commission. As Young Corbett III of California who defeated both Thompson and his predecessor Jackie Fields in non-title bouts, is the only contender who has filed a challenge the commission action is construed as an effort to force a match between Corbett and Thompson.

POLAND WINS CUP

Polish riders won the Cup of Nations competition in the annual international horse show in Warsaw with France second and Romania third. It was Poland's third victory in the event and gained for the winners permanent possession of the trophy.

GETS TUMBLE FROM CHAMP

Freddie Miller, Cincinnati featherweight, was not only knocked all over the ring when he fought the champ, Bat Battalino, for the title, but out of it as well. Here Freddie is shown taking a header. Battalino won decisively in 10 rounds.

THE BADLANDS

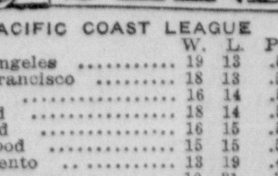

Jack Dalton, Cole Younger and other bold fellows used to roam the western plains, plying the art of banditry. Those chaps, along with Jesse James, have gone now, but there are still bad men in the neighborhoods where these picturesque characters conducted their nefarious business.

For further details you can write to John McGraw or Wilbert Robinson. Messrs. McGraw and Robinson took ball clubs into the badlands recently. They were waylaid just as effectively as the stage coach of earlier days. Mr. McGraw was glad to get out of St. Louis alive. It was a sad day for Mr. Robinson when he displayed his team in Pittsburgh, which is west in baseball, though it is regarded as east in football.

Messrs. McGraw and Robinson will tell you that Horace Greeley passed out some very money advice when he urged young men to go west.

SCHMELING-WALKER

The next world heavyweight championship fight, it appears, will bring Herr Schmeling into the ring with Mickey Walker. A number of our sports-writing friends in New York have be-

BENNY TO SEEK WELTERWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP

BY HYPE IGGOE
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Benny Leonard has gone and done it. Out of retirement into the open after six long years on the sidelines.

Jack Kearns has signed the former lightweight champion to a long term contract and Leonard will set forth after the welter and middleweight championships.

The pair came to an agreement three months ago, but it wasn't until yesterday that agreements were actually signed.

Kearns asked Leonard if he was willing to submit to a private six round tryout against Mickey Walker, then in training for Jack Sharkey, at Orangeburg. He did. Nobody but Kearns, Walker and Teddy Hayes was in on the venture.

Leonard had taken off 15 pounds at Gus Wilson's camp before Walker ever showed up to condition himself for Sharkey.

"I'll send Leonard after four titles now held by Canezoni, Jack Berg, Thompson, and, of course, we'll claim Walker's vacated middleweight title," Kearns said today.

"Leonard's first battle will be in Chicago late in August or September. We haven't closed for any particular opponent. Leonard will come back and electrify the fans as he did as the best lightweight champion of all time."

Kearns expects to have Leonard ready for combat in a short time. Benny is ready. He weighs 135 pounds. He can make 135 pounds. He weighs about 145 now.

Leonard is 35. He began boxing in 1912. He stopped the late Freddie Welsh for the lightweight title.

Leonard's return to the ring is not actuated by a love for the game from which he retired "in respect for the wishes of his dear old mother."

Rather, Benny is a victim of financial depression. The stock market and a career as owner of a professional hockey team gave Leonard a harder blow than any he received during a career of 200 ring bouts and he now is reported to have little of the $500,000 fortune with which he retired.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

MRS. CHANDLER RECALLS EARLY DAYS OF COUNTY

ORANGE, Aug. 6.—The daughter of a native daughter of California, the niece of Alexander Carpenter, the second American boy born in the city of Los Angeles, and a member of one of the oldest families of Los Angeles county, is the proud distinction which Mrs. Chandler, of West Chapman avenue, may claim.

Mrs. Chandler in her early childhood can remember when every one knew everyone else in the now huge city of Los Angeles. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hill, Mr. Hill having been one of the oldest residents of that city and Miss Josephine Carpenter, her mother, one of the first American girls born there. Mrs. Chandler has two interesting scrap books filled with clippings from old newspapers which relate the happenings of early days in Los Angeles county, when the county included what is now Orange county.

The scrap books were made by Mrs. Chandler's mother, who lived near Olive for a number of years and who, before her death several years ago, was a frequent visitor in this city. The Hill family moved to Olive when Mrs. Chandler was but a year old and as a girl she attended the old Olive school which is now the Walter Meier home. W. E. Squires was one of the early teachers. The home of Mrs. Chandler on Taft avenue is still known as the old Hill place.

The Hills lived at Olive during the time when vineyards were planted all over the county and shortly after the great grape blight, Mr. Hill died and Mrs. Hill moved back to Los Angeles. Hill had been for many years since he arrived in Los Angeles in the early 50's, a member of the police and fire departments and Mrs. Chandler has a quaint silver loving cup given her father by the old 33's of the fire department of Los Angeles.

Among the interesting clippings are those of social affairs in which the Hill children participated in the city and among familiar names are those of the J. B. Lankersheim family.

Mrs. Hill married James Frank Burns, also a prominent old time resident of Los Angeles. Burns held every office in the city of Los Angeles with the exception of that of mayor and Mrs. Chandler can remember many of the exciting incidents of early political life in that city when her step-father was chief of police. Especially can she remember the capture of "Six-toed Pete," a notorious horse thief and murderer. Mrs. Chandler's step-father at first taught school in Los Angeles after his arrival across country from Pennsylvania in 1853. He later became county superintendent of Los Angeles county when Orange county was included in it, and was U. S. marshal, receiving his appointment from Buchanan. In 1867 he was elected sheriff of the county and in 1890 was chief of police of Los Angeles. Mrs. Chandler lived with her parents on Burns avenue in Los Angeles where her step-father died.

Mrs. Chandler attended the opening of the old Pico mansion near Whittier in 1909 when her step-father spoke in behalf of the Los

CENSUS SHOWS 2,429,062 AS LINE EMPLOYED

The director of the census of the United States department of commerce today announced unemployment returns for the United States by industry groups. The unemployment industry, which was made in April, 1930, as a part of the population census, covered all persons usually working at a gainful occupation, who were not at work on the day preceding the enumerators' call.

The total number of gainful workers (persons 10 years old and over reporting a gainful occupation) in the United States in April, 1930, was 48,852,539, comprising 23,052,705 males and 25,799,834 females. Of these, 2,429,062 or 5 per cent, were returned as out of a job, able to work and looking for a job. Of the male gainful workers, 2,065,728, or 5.4 per cent, were returned as jobless, while of the female gainful workers 463,334, or 3.4 per cent, were jobless.

The highest unemployment percentages were found in manufacturing and mechanical industries, extraction of minerals and forestry and fishing, and the lowest in agriculture, public service and professional service. In the detailed list of industry groups, 15.4 per cent of the workers in the building industry were jobless. Other high percentages in this class were 10.2 in woolen and worsted mills, 9.9 in automobile factories, 9.6 in cigar and tobacco factories. Among manufacturing and mechanical industries groups, the smallest percentages of jobless were found in chemical and allied industries 3.9 per cent; paper and allied industries, 3.9 per cent, and independent hand trades, 3.9 per cent. In agriculture the most significant unemployment returns were for farm laborers, wage workers. In this group 3.8 per cent were returned as jobless (class A).

In the group including persons having jobs but on layoff without pay, excluding those sick or voluntarily idle, the highest unemployment percentages were 12.6 in coal mines and 11.2 in woolen and worsted mills. In these industries, many persons, even those with long periods of idleness, reported themselves as having jobs, while in other industries, such as bakeries, printing and independent hand trades, very few persons returned on the unemployment schedules were reported as having jobs to which they expected to return.

Case was sentenced to serve 90 days in jail and Gilliland was sentenced to serve 30 days on the charge. They were accused of stealing 150 pounds of oranges and eight lug boxes of corn. Leo J. Frills, deputy district attorney, prosecuted the case.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salt, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your liver-and-bile feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just dumps in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a stick, bad taste and your health is fouled. You feel sick and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make your food digest. They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resistant to moisture. © 1931, Carter Medicine Company.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS

"It's not as if you and Tack cared—wouldn't tell you then, but—Martha—don't you know—love you?" Martha Thayer interrupted Peter Wayne with a "Yes, I knew it before you did. I think I've ever done—I let you go on because I needed you—when all the time I was with you with some one else. That some one was Evan Ross, not Tack Thayer, her husband, with whom Peter had gone to college at Yale. Peter recalled all this as he waited outside the Thayers' penthouse while Inspector Connolly and Assistant District Attorney Barclay questioned Martha about Tack's murder. After his graduation Peter had gone west to do plodding chemical research for an industrial corporation until he stumbled on an alloy that made a light airplane engine possible. Then he sold his patent for cash and a royalty that staggered him and headed for the fashions of Manhattan. He met Martha with Tack's night club and was in love with her before he realized it. She told Peter she could not divorce Tack and marry Ross because Tack's mother, who controlled the family fortune, was opposed to the divorce. She told Peter about going to Dr. Meyer Zehn, a psychoanalyst, with her troubles.

INSTALLMENT XI

"My dear, I suppose I ought to tell you that the thing that matters most to me is your happiness. Well, in a way, it is. But I've marked preference for getting your happiness and mine hooked up, you see, and I'm perfectly frank to say so, I'll help about Ross, if I have to, but I won't enjoy it."

"I'm not asking you to do that!" she said, her cheeks scarlet.

"I know," he said. "I guess, when you're in love with some one. It gets hold of you, when you're alone, and you rave a bit, and then—well, you forget all about it the first time you're sent for."

"I am beastly to you, Peter," she said, remorsefully. "Heavens—I needn't make you listen while I kick and scream!"

"Oh, go ahead!" he said. "Don't you worry about me, I can stand it."

"You oughtn't to have to," she said. "Only—I wish I could understand! I hate the feeling that I'm up against a blank wall. I'm not! I won't be. I've never really been beaten yet, and I won't be."

"That's a good way to feel," said Peter.

"I've always got everything I wanted—"

"In a way—I suppose you have," he said. "The trouble is—it doesn't always keep on being what you thought it was. He hesitated; then went on. "You got Tack, but—"

"I know," she said. "That frightens me, too, sometimes, Peter. Don't make me think of that. I don't like to remember the trouble I've made."

So things went on, not changing much from day to day, superficially, at least, yet with Peter had to suppose, a certain continuous progress and movement toward—well, what? He didn't know. That was, principally, his trouble. His training, all the work he'd done, so far, in his maturity, had made him want to want always to be working toward a definite, clearly seen goal. You were always doing that in a research.

You knew what you were after; you knew, quite explicitly, the object of all you did. You strayed often enough, even in quiet hours in a deserted laboratory, down by paths, but pretty soon you came to something that showed you were on the wrong road, and you would retrace your steps, and get started in the right direction again.

This business wasn't at all like that. There was no way of checking up results, measuring progress, or lack of progress. A woman wasn't at all like scientific truth, that fixed and immutable star on one's horizon, be that horizon near or remote. No sooner did he think that he was fathoming the depths of Martha's elusive and mysterious being than she shifted her whole ground, capriciously, and he had it all to do again.

He was constantly having to revise his whole estimate and judgment of her. She was always doing things wholly out of key with what you had made up his mind that her character, essentially, was. That wasn't true only of his own relation with her; it was constantly coming out in the way she got along, or didn't get along, with Tack.

She'd told him she was fond of Tack, although, obviously, she was not at all in love with him any more. Part of the time her fondness for him was evident. But very often her treatment of him backed up what he'd heard Tack say, once: "Martha's got it in for me." It was understandable enough. Peter supposed, Tack was drunk, Peter supposed, Tack was alienated people, after night. He alienated people, annoyed them, embarrassed Martha, and still, there was something on his side. One of the things that was wrong with Tack was his dislike of Ross, and his resentment of Martha's intimacy with the chap.

And there, Peter felt, Tack was emotionally in the right, and had, moreover, as Martha's husband, no matter how matters between them might stand, the right to express himself.

Peter was more confused, more troubled, more unhappy, than he had ever been before in his life. The standards that had served him all his life no longer did him any good. Under the test of this business, they'd broken down; he could no longer measure his own behavior by them; he certainly wasn't able to apply them to Martha. According to those standards, he'd behaved pretty badly himself, and Martha was wholly beyond the pale, but he knew, in his heart, that that was silly; that it just wasn't so.

And that brings this chronicle of events up to the night Tack Thayer was killed, and the quarrel with Martha that had sent Peter home to lie, tossing, restless and wakeful, in the dark, until he was aroused by the sinister, terrifying ringing of the telephone bell beside his bed.

His quarrel with Martha was not, in its general outline, unlike a dozen others they'd had; it was neither more nor less significant than they had been. He'd had tea with her, about five o'clock, and had asked her, casually, what she and Tack were doing that night. "Nothing in particular," she said. "Being domestic, I think. Why don't you dine with us?"

"No," said Peter. "You and Tack dine with me, instead, and I'll get seats for that musical show you want to see—the one Jim Hudson's in. They say it's pretty good."

"All right," said Martha. "Where shall we meet?"

"Let's make it Romi's—about seven-thirty," said Peter.

They left it at that. Peter waited, downstairs, until eight o'clock, by which time he'd read through the only reading matter in the place, the coat room girl's Graphic, twice. Then he was called to the telephone.

"Peter? Martha. I'm sorry—it's all off for tonight. I'll call you in the morning—"

"But—"

"I can't talk now, Peter. Sorry. Good-bye. I'll call you in the morning."

There was a click in his ear. That was all. He went upstairs and dined, in a vile temper; later, he spent the Bronsons, and took them along to the theater instead of Martha and Tack. Afterward they went somewhere to dance, and, about half past twelve, Martha sailed in, with Ross, looking incredibly lovely, and, somehow, transfigured. She waved, cheerfully, to Peter, and he nodded back; for once, though it wasn't his way, he felt, and looked, sulky.

Presently more people he and the Bronsons knew came in and collected them at a bigger table, and he found himself beside Betty Rogers. Martha was dancing with Ross; they'd stayed, defiantly, at their own small table, although the place was full of people they knew, who'd tried to make them move over and join them.

"Wonder where Tack is," said Betty. "He and Martha had a frightful row tonight. Hear about it?"

"No," said Peter, curtly. (To Be Continued)

KIWANIS HEARS OF TELEVISION EXPERIMENTS

Declaring that television is a present a "fine scientific toy" with a wonderful future ahead of it, Dean Smith, engineer for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, was the speaker yesterday at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club in Ketner's cafe. City Engineer Dewitt Dudley was program chairman.

Two-way television, he said, is more dramatic than the broadcast television and is mechanically nearer perfection but there is one great handicap that experts have been unable to overcome. This handicap is the fact that it has been impossible to develop a market for the service.

Smith said that at present installation of each set costs approximately $250,000. Until the price can be reduced to a reasonable level the two-way television will have to remain a scientific toy.

This type of television, according to the speaker, makes it possible for two people, miles apart, to carry on a conversation and at the same time see the person to whom they are talking.

Television generally, Smith said, is in the same position today that radio was in 1919. It has been proven a possibility but development from the crude apparatus of today to the mechanically perfect unit capable of practical use in commerce will require the same long steps that were necessary in the development of the radio.

Television by the broadcast system is already in operation in the east and several radio stations, including KHJ in Los Angeles, have recently been licensed for television. Smith said that any station can broadcast television and the only change necessary is in the receiving set.

Bridge Club Members And Guests Enjoy Pretty Party

In entertaining the members of her dessert bridge club yesterday afternoon in her Red Hill avenue home, Mrs. Clarence A. Nisson extended her hospitality to include a number of additional friends in compliment to her sister, Mrs. Joseph Thompson. Mrs. Thompson is a charming young matron of Waco, Tex., who is renewing friendships formed in this city when she used to visit here as Miss Gladys Montgomery.

In accordance with the custom of the bridge club, the hostess had her tables in readiness for serving a refreshing dessert as soon as her guests arrived. Appointments were quite charming, with Dresden china vases each holding a few tiny pompon dahlias in tints repeating the colors of the china. The ensemble effect was completed by Dresden china nut-cups on each table, while tally cards used as place cards, were in an equally dainty design.

Bovels of pompons were used throughout the rooms, and Mrs. Nisson explained that the lovely blooms had been the gift of Mrs. Fred Newcomb Jr., one of the club members.

Little Miss Suzanne Thompson, looking as though she had just stepped from a time-hellum days in the Old South, assisted in serving the petits fours, home-made ice cream and coffee.

Mrs. Robert Mize was the club member making the afternoon's high score and receiving the pretty cup and saucer to add to the set which each member is assembling as a result of the semi-monthly parties. It seemed especially fitting that Mrs. Thompson, the honoree, should score high among the guests, and her reward was a pretty decorated ice-box set.

Club members present for the afternoon, in addition to the hostess, were Mrs. Fred Newcomb, Jr., Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mrs. George Kenneth Seovel, Mrs. Robert Mize, Mrs. L. Allen Wallace and Mrs. William H. Wright. Guests were Mrs. Taver Montgomery, Mrs. L. B. Armstrong, Mrs. Emmett Elliott, Miss Louise Montgomery and Miss Jerusha Anne Randall. Santa Ana; Miss Helen Porter and Miss Laura Porter, Fullerton, and their sister, Mrs. C. A. Donley (Mildred Porter) of Brawley, and the honoree, Mrs. Thompson.

College Students Have Merry Party for Ralph White

A party of various entertaining features was shared last evening by former Santa Ana junior college students who gathered in the home of Miss Miriam Samuelson, 125 South Pacific avenue, Tustin, to honor Ralph "Bud" White, who will leave Sunday to enter medical school at the University of California.

Miss Samuelson was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. C. A. Samuelson. Decorations were carried out through the use of many bouquets of carnations, zinnias and roses in pastel and more vivid tints as well.

The informal party was begun with an old-fashioned taffy pull, which provided much merriment. Refreshments of punch and wafers were served to conclude the affair at the home, after which the group motored to Balboa for a swimming party. Before their departure guests presented Mr. White with a handsome gift.

After the refreshing dip in the ocean, the group was entirely ready for the roasted wieners and all tempting refreshments which were served at a late hour.

Those bidden to the affair included, in addition to Miss Samuelson and Mrs. Samuelson, Miss Edna Cheney, Miss Helen Hendricks, this city; Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Grace Marcher, Balboa; Miss Ruth Fitz, Garden Grove; and Willard White, Leonard Morris Delmar, Brown, Terry Stephenson and the honored guest Ralph White.

Engagement Announced At Pretty Family Dinner Party

No doubt the wings of love for Miss Mary Maria Diehl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Diehl, and Kenneth V. Beer are those of the airplane, for Mr. Beer is a young aviator who will claim the lovely Santa Ana girl as his bride early in September. The interesting announcement was made early this week at a pretty family dinner party given in the C. B. Diehl home, 2309 Bonnie Brae.

The little group of guests included, in addition to the honoree, Miss Diehl, her sister, Miss Dorothy Diehl; their brother, Robert Diehl of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Diehl and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Gannett, this city.

Mr. Beer is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Beer of Salt Lake City. He and his fiancée have been friends for a number of years, as their acquaintance first started when Mr. and Mrs. Diehl and their family lived in Salt Lake City. He and his bride-to-be will make their home in Brownsville, Tex., as he has an air route from there to Mexico in his associations with the Pan-American Airway. Mr. Beer followed his graduation from Stanford university with an aviation course at Kelley field, San Antonio, Tex.

Miss Diehl is a graduate of Marlborough school for girls in Los Angeles and attended junior college in this city. She is one of the popular members of the younger social set of Santa Ana.

Federated Clubwomen Select Themes for Year's Study

That theme of so much of present day literature, comment and discussion, "The Younger Generation," has been adopted by the Orange county Federation of Women's Clubs as worthy of special study and attention during the coming year, according to decision reached yesterday at the bi-monthly executive board meeting held in Newport Beach Ebell clubhouse. Mrs. Earl E. Smith of Anaheim, president of the county federation, suggested the study theme as being one of special interest in view of the federation's activities in all affairs of civic and general import. It is felt that through their study, clubwomen generally will be better qualified to interpret a new age to a new generation.

Of course, the federation will give its attention to other matters of general interest, one of chief moment being the water question in its application not only to the county but to the state.

A session of the federation opened at 10 o'clock in the morning, with Mrs. Nellie Terry of Anaheim leading in the flag salute, followed by a devotional reading by Mrs. John M. Cloyes of this city, county chairman of literature.

Miss E. Kate Rea of Anaheim, speaker of the morning, was introduced by Mrs. Haven Smith of Orange, county chairman of conservation, and gave a concise report of the intricate Metropolitan water district plan, for which the people of 15 cities will vote on September 28.

Starting with 1928, when Los Angeles voted $2,000,000 for a survey for new sources of water, Miss Rea traced the history of the Metropolitan water district through its formation in 1928, with 11 cities as charter members, to the present status of what is perhaps the largest public works undertaking in any state's history. Her speaker had facts and figures clearly in mind and her talk cleared up many doubtful points in the minds of her hearers.

Following the luncheon intermission, the board heard the Orange county flood control plan explained by M. N. Thompson, flood control engineer, while Richard D. Flaherty, secretary of the Orange county farm bureau, showed slides of the sites of the proposed dams and reservoirs and scenes of past floods in the county.

During the morning Mrs. Smith introduced presidents of many of the county clubs and members completed list of county chairmen for the various departments of federation activity. Miss Cleo Allen Weds Educator at Quiet Church Rites Culminating a series of delightful social affairs inspired by the betrothal of Miss Cleo Allen, charming Santa Ana girl, and Daniel Broox Lucas, prominent member of the Victorville high school faculty, was their wedding yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the Arlington Avenue Christian church, Los Angeles.

The Rev. Frederick T. Porter, long the pastor of Santa Ana First Christian church, read the beautiful service before the assembled guests who were confined to members of the two families with perhaps half a dozen close family friends, who motored to the Angel city for the rites.

Altar decorations were all in green with massed ferns and foliage amidst which soared tall wax candles. The musical program featured such appropriate organ numbers as "Dawn," by Novin, "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell, and the two outstanding wedding marches, that from "Lohengrin" as the processional and Mendelssohn's as the recessional. In addition was the vocal solo, "At Dawning" (Cedman) by James Hiner of Los Angeles, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Miss Allen was charming in a modish semi-sport suit of white flat crepe, worn with white hat, slippers and all dress accessories. Completing the effective bridal note was her formal bouquet of snowy roses, sweet peas and lilies of the valley, tied with tulle lace. An especially pleasing association lay in her choice of the "something old" and "something borrowed" in her costume, as the carved ivory beads belonging to her mother and coming originally from Havana, Cuba. She was given in marriage by her brother, William S. Allen.

Mrs. Vernon Hill served her sister as matron of honor, and her smart little suit was in shell pink rosettes and sweet peas to add its harmonious touch. The effect of the two sisters stood against the cool green decorations of the altar was lovely in the extreme.

Mr. Lucas had as his best man, a close friend and college mate, Everett Howard of Los Angeles. Immediately after the ceremony he and his bride sped away on a northern automobile trip, leaving in the usual shower of rice and gay messages.

They expect to be in San Francisco and other northern cities, returning early in September to Victorville where they will be at home to their friends after September 15. At the opening of the schools Mr. Lucas will resume his duties as a member of the high school staff, and the new Mrs. Lucas will teach in the Victorville grammar schools, transferring her activities from Franklin school of this city, where she has been a valuable member of the faculty under Miss Lottie Sweet, principal.

Relatives who were present at the interesting wedding rites included Mrs. Minnie Allen, mother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hill and young sons, Bobby and Billy, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Allen of this city, Mrs. Lucas, mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. James Hiner, Miss Jane Hiner, "Bill" Lucas, Mrs. Sadie Howard, Ralph Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Maxwell and tiny daughter, Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Howard, Los Angeles, and Jack Moore of Walla Walla, Wash.

Approaching Wedding Date Revealed By Pretty Daisies

The suggestion that "daisies sometimes tell" found on little scrolls concealed amidst tea table appointments at a party given this week by Miss Katherine McMullen, yielded the romantic information that on August 20 Miss McMullen and Floyd Morten will be married. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Theresa McMullen, this city, while Mr. Morten is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Morten of Anaheim.

Miss McMullen entertained her guests in the attractive ranch home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Alva McMullen. Beautifully arranged bouquets from the gardens of the home were used in decorating, with feathery-petaled daisies predominating.

A session of bridge preceded the announcement, and at its conclusion a pretty German silhouette, "The Frog King," was awarded to Mrs. Charles Heisner for scoring high. Mrs. G. J. Yorba scored second high, receiving a pottery vase.

Miss Mary Shoop was consoled with a box of French stationery.

The delightful two-course tea menu served was in keeping with the daisy motif of the afternoon, and included chicken salad and iced tea, with ice-cream moulded in the form of little yellow baskets allied with yellow-centered daisies.

Mrs. Ferris Reid, Mrs. H. Yackel and Mrs. Theresa McMullen assisted the honoree with the serving. Miss McMullen was attractively gowned in sheer floral chiffon in tints of yellow and orange.

Table appointments featured yellow nut-cups bedecked with daisies whose stems twisted around parchment scrolls revealing the engagement of Miss McMullen to Mr. Morten. The announcement read, "Daisies sometimes tell, Katherine and Floyd, August 20."

Although intimate friends of the young couple have known of the engagement, they have been unaware of the wedding date. Miss McMullen's platinum-set diamond ring was much admired.

Miss McMullen is well known in this city, having graduated from Santa Ana high school and junior college as well. She continued her college work at the University of California at Berkeley, where she was a member of the Alpha Delta Theta sorority. For some time she was assistant librarian at the Orange county library, and for the past two years has been librarian at the McKinley Junior high school in Los Angeles.

Mr. Morten also attended junior college here, later entering the University of Oregon at Eugene, Ore. He is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. At present he is in business in Los Angeles, where he and his bride-to-be plan to make their home.

Other than the hostess's mother, Mrs. Theresa McMullen, and Mrs. Alva McMullen were Mr. Morten's mother, Mrs. F. J. Morten of Anaheim, Mrs. Ferris Reid, Mrs. Edward Beaver, Miss Elizabeth Baker, Miss Eleanor Guyer, Miss Louise Griffith, Miss Charlene Kites, Mrs. H. Yackel, Mrs. Ralph Reeve, Santa Ana; Mrs. Howard Wright, Claremont; Mrs. Maurice Guyer, Laguna Beach.

Hamilton, Lulu Johnson, Leon W. Lauderbach, O. H. McKee, J. H. Nicholson, R. E. Cora Rugg, Zitella Baskin, E. B. Sprague, John

Making the Table Top Safe

Would you like to have a table top able to withstand hot dishes? WAX IT. Not only will your table be tavelier, but you will be able to dispense with clumsy "silence" cloths and lanchon dollies without fear of marring your table.

Dust the table thoroughly, wipe with a damp cloth, then with a dry one. Apply a thin film of paste wax and polish until you'll begin to think you have discovered perpetual motion. Leave it for that day, but have a go at it the next day, and the next, until you are satisfied that it is as satiny as your good right arm can make it.

Do you need a rug for a bedroom in which you are using colonial furniture? I saw a clever one in a friend's bedroom this morning. It was strips of rag knitting, sewed together—three of them, I think. I asked her about the making, and she told me she had saved, borrowed, bought and got, all light shades of cotton.

Some were used as they came, others she dyed to make the colors needed. A very large and long pair of wooden needles were used the stitch just the ordinary running knitting stitch, until she had as long a strip as needed. These rugs wash perfectly and have the value of being hand made. The maker suggests working out these knitted rag rugs in modern designs, knitting squares and putting them together in color combinations.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Caramel Dessert

1-1/2 cups brown sugar
2 cups boiling water
2 level tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup chopped dates
1-1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1-1/2 cup whipping cream
Vanilla, and pinch of salt.

This old fashioned dessert is a glorified sort of cornstarch pudding. Usually it is served with plain cream and directions will be given for this way, then we'll see what else could be done with it. Now for directions.

Add pinch of salt to the water and the sugar, and boil hard for 10 minutes. Dissolve the cornstarch in a little cold water, stir into the boiling syrup and cook until very clear. This takes at least 10 minutes and the mixture must be stirred almost constantly unless it is cooked in a double boiler.

Wash, tone and chop the dates and add them with the chopped walnuts to the hot mixture. Turn into individual moulds and chill until served. A spoonful of unsweetened whipped cream tops each serving.

Now for a More Modern Way

Whip the cream stiff and when the pudding is half cooled whip it smoothly through the mixture. Rinse individual moulds in cold water, fill with the pudding and chill in the glass pan directly under the freezing chamber. Remove from this place half an hour before serving. A spoonful of marshmallow cream dropped on top of each mould improves the looks and adds but little to the calories.

The dessert will serve eight, and the calories per person total 250, practically all of them intensive energy makers. If you are gaining weight too fast, this dessert is not for you. Eat a slice of watermelon and you can feel just as snug as you like.

Salads you will like to make—a fine collection of salads and salad dressings are offered free of charge this week in the current leaflet. Just send in a stamped, self-addressed envelope and the recipes are yours.

"Politics" Opens At Broadway

MORAN, MARIE DRESSLER HERE IN FUN FILM

"POLITICS" HERE

Marie Dressler, "lady of mirth," who with Polly Moran comes to the Fox Broadway theater today in their latest sidesplitting comedy, "Politics."

Another great "Month of Stars" picture comes to the Fox Broadway theater today. It is "Politics," starring those two most famous comedienne, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran.

Marie runs for mayor in the new picture, and how she runs. A few high-handed methods are used to get her into office, such as wives going on strikes until they force their husbands to vote for the woman candidate and the like, but the methods before she gets into office do not compare with the high-handed methods used afterwards.

Santa Ana theatergoers who saw "Caught Short" here several months ago and "Reducing" still smile when they think of the antics these two comedienne went through in those pictures.

Wait until they see "Politics." The dialogue is particularly funny, and Dressler gives the best performance of her belated screen career. Polly Moran, as manager of Marie in her political races, gives her usual good performance.

A laugh picture from start to finish, the giggles start with the first scene and increase each minute until they end in howls as the picture ends its run.

PICTURE AT STATE IN NATURAL COLOR

Continuous applause greeted "Fifty Million Frenchmen," the Warner Bros. comedy romance at the opening performance last night at Walker's State theater.

"Fifty Million Frenchmen" is a brilliant, natural color screen version of the play which captured Broadway last season. Many of the same people that appeared on the stage are seen in the picture.

But the bagful of monkeys is that outlandish team of clowns, Olsen and Johnson, who enact the pussfooting sleuths that pursue everybody, catch nobody, but cause tremendous laughter in the doing of it.

"Fifty Million Frenchmen" is the sort of picture which delights young and old.

Production Test Due At Standard's Newport Well

SUPERIOR OIL CONTINUES TO SIGN UP LAND

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—Standard oil company has hauled tubing to its Irvine No. 1 well north of Newport bay. The bringing in of the tubing after setting perforated casing means to oil men that the Standard is going to make a production test at the Irvine well. The Superior Oil company continues its leasing campaign in Newport Heights and vicinity to the north and west of the Standard well. Many lot owners are leasing and many are holding out until they find out whether or not there is to be an oil development campaign as well as a leasing campaign. Many are opposed to the encroachment of oil in that area. It may require four or five days or it may require a week or 10 days to complete the Standard test. The bottom of the hole is estimated at 5600 feet, with 600 feet of perforated casing set.

The Superior took a string of drill pipe to its No. 1 well in the Huntington Beach town lot field yesterday. The well is at Twentieth and Walnut. It is cemented in below 7500 feet, after having cut into the tumbler sand. It is presumed the Superior will drill this well in and make a production test.

The McCaslin deep well in the town lot field is still swabbing, but so far is not a producer.

Newport Man Gets Black Widow Spider

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—H. L. Sherman today was showing friends a black widow spider, caught yesterday in his back yard on Central avenue. It was safely imprisoned in a glass jar, but even thus jailed many people did not exhibit much enthusiasm about getting too close to it. The black widow spider is extremely poisonous and warnings have been issued regarding it. It has a bright red spot on the lower part of its body, by which it is easily identified.

NEVADA MEN IN TALKS AT BEACH CLUB SESSION

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—The people of Nevada do not attach as much importance to the new "liberal" laws on divorce and gambling now in effect in that state as people outside, according to R. R. Amens of Ely, Nev., who was a speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting yesterday of the Newport Harbor Service club.

The new gambling regulations did not make such a difference as generally supposed, he said. The gambling now going on goes on more openly, but that is about the only difference, Amens said, except that considerable revenue now accrues to the state and its cities, whereas previously it went into private pockets.

Another speaker was C. W. Torrence, also of Ely. Both were introduced by City Recorder W. A. Leonard, a former resident of the Nevada city, which is the center of a copper-mining district.

As a matter of fact, said the visitors, the people of that section watch the copper quotations more than they do the Reno divorce courts.

J. C. Tuffrey, of Pico and Balboa, brought a message of goodwill to the harbor district from the northern parts of the county. He stated that water was the big problem now facing the county.

Another visitor was George Robins, banker of Temple City, father of Theo. Robins, harbor district automobile dealer.

The local service club will hereafter meet primarily to have a good time. It was decided by unanimous vote, after E. L. Moore warned the members that discussions such as one held yesterday on the matter of an overhead crossing at the intersection of Newport boulevard and the Coast highway was controversial and might become acrimonious. The vote was taken at the suggestion of Dr. Conrad Richter, president of the club.

PIONEER TELLS OF EARLY DAYS AT CAPISTRANO

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Aug. 6.—Among the quaint old characters of this locality are found several whose ancestry dated back to early mission days and whose names are linked with the history of San Juan Capistrano, from the date of its founding until the present day. Such a one is Mrs. Lorenza A. de Manriquez, who celebrated her 82nd birthday recently with an old time Spanish fiesta and dance at which 60 or more of her friends attended.

Mrs. Manriquez has passed her entire life in San Juan Capistrano. Her father, Blas de Aguilar, married a Spanish girl of San Luis Rey early in the century and brought his bride to live in the old adobe house opposite the Mission San Juan Capistrano, which tradition says was constructed by Pedro Aguilar, master builder of old Mexico, who between the years 1799 and 1803 directed the building of the old stone church. Some members of the Aguilar family has lived in this house since that time. Mrs. Manriquez spent her childhood and girlhood within its old walls, and many are the memories she recalls as she talks of those early times.

A charming, bright eyed old lady, well preserved and with a flashing smile, she talks readily through her daughter, who acts as an interpreter, of outstanding events in her long life. She remembers as a child of 2, the visit of the dread La Manilla, outlaw band of Juan Flores, who raided San Juan Capistrano in January, 1857, killed several people and carried off what they could lay their hands on. At that time the front of the old Aguilar adobe was used as a storeroom, and it was there the bandits did their greatest damage and during the raid Mrs. Manriquez and other members of her family lay hidden safely in the rear rooms of the building.

An outstanding memory of her girlhood is of her mother grinding corn, Indian fashion, to be baked later, in the old adobe oven, which stood under a rude shed back of the Aguilar house.

She remembers the horseback rides, the dances and the fiestas she took part in as a girl and she recalls her marriage in February, 1875. The ceremony was performed in the old mission and the bride wore a gay dress of green and red and black plaid woolen goods and after the wedding she returned to live for a few years later in the old Aguilar home, and later moved to the place she now lives on a ranch east of San Juan Capistrano on the Ortega highway. She recalls the weekly trips to the Hot Springs, with other Mexican women of the community in the high Spanish carts, surrounded by the week's washing, which was taken to be washed in the hot waters of the Indian spring, and she recalls scenes by scenes the changing events that have led from her girlhood to the present time.

Among those present at the fiesta were her four children, all of San Juan Capistrano, Mrs. Delina Olivares, her oldest daughter, Mrs. Lupe Combs, and Mrs. Bessie Ruiz, and her son, Manuel Manriquez, her brother, Blas Aguilar, and his family and numerous other relatives.

Beach Umbrellas Taboo As Dressing Place At Newport

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—A resident of Twenty-fifth street complained to the police yesterday that boys and girls were undressing under an umbrella on the ocean front at the end of Twenty-fifth street. The police investigated, but all bathers were in the ocean by the time the police arrived and no Newport sleuth was keen enough to detect slouch of the bathers had undressed under an umbrella, which had used more conventional dressing rooms.

A sure and heavy penalty awaits bathers violating the city ordinances, if they are caught and brought before the city judge. Another complaint came to police yesterday of people undressing in autos at the bay front at the foot of Ruby street on Balboa island.

OPEN NEW OFFICE

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 6.—The Ole Hanson organization has a new office in San Clemente located at the corner of the state highway and Del Mar in the building once occupied by the San Clemente Art shop. Tom Murphree Jr. and Win Keel have charge of the office in the new establishment.

H.B. Woman Burned In Heating Wax

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Bessie Dowty, residing at 109 Hill street, was painfully burned at 6 o'clock this morning when a pan of paraffin she was heating for preserving purposes sent the flames to the ceiling and Mrs. Dowty seized the pan and attempted to throw it out the back door.

The paraffin exploded and burned her right arm from hand to shoulder, her right limb and the right side of her neck and face. The neck and face burns are slight, but the arm and leg burns are quite severe. Mrs. Dowty was rushed to the Emergency hospital where Dr. Ralph E. Hawes gave first aid and returned Mrs. Dowty to her home. Her husband, Cecil Dowty, had just left the home to go to his work when the accident happened. Mrs. Dowty's screams brought neighbors to her aid.

VALUABLE TERRIER TOSSED FROM CAR

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—A valuable Boston terrier, owned by Attorney Stanley Barnes of Los Angeles and San Marino, brother-in-law of Mrs. Florence Lowe Barnes, was thrown from a fast-moving automobile Tuesday by a man who is believed to have picked it up when it strayed from Dos Rosas, the Barnes estate here, where Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Barnes are passing a vacation. The little animal was injured about the head and stunned.

Mrs. Edward Swanton, 163 1-2 Myrtle avenue, Long Beach, saw the dog tossed out of the car and tried to follow the other machine but lost it. She returned and picked up Romy and took the injured animal to the police station, where she reported the incident to Police Chief Alva W. Johnson. An effort was made by Traffic Officer Ernest B. Pyke to locate the car from Mrs. Swanton's description, but without success.

Last evening Councilman Frank B. Champion was visiting at the Barnes home and learned that their dog was missing. He inquired of Officer Pyke and learned that they proved to be Romy. Chief Johnson says he believes the man who threw the dog had intended to take it, but that the little animal raised such a rumpus that he got rid of it. The police would like to lodge a cruelty charge against the offender.

Body of Laguna Man Taken East

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Harry R. Armstrong, widow of the former chief of police of Duluth, who lost his life in the surf off the central beach last Friday, left Tuesday night by train for that city with the body of her husband. Mrs. Robert McCullough, a daughter, and Ralph Armstrong, a son, who had flown here from Chicago and Duluth, accompanied Mrs. Armstrong. The funeral will be held Saturday at the Masonic temple, Duluth, at 2 o'clock. Mr. Armstrong was a 32nd degree Mason, having gone through the Scottish Rite and also a Shriner.

In addition to being the principal owner of the National Iron works, Mr. Armstrong has been president of the Duluth Rotary club, the chamber of commerce, the Duluth Automobile club, vice-president of the Morris Plan bank and a director of the Minnesota Automobile association. He was born in Port Washington, Ohio, August 23, 1855. As a young man he saw service in the Indian wars in Oregon, but had lived most of his life in Duluth. He retired as chief of police about 30 years ago and organized the National Iron works. He had lived in California four years and in Laguna Beach two years. He was a director of the Community Players here.

Says Bullets Too Close For Comfort

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—L. L. Covert, residing in the north city limits of Laguna Beach, complained to the Newport Beach police yesterday that fishermen shooting at seals were sending bullets close to his home. He said the fishing boats from which the shots came were registered out of Newport Beach. Except to give publicity to the complaint, there is little the Newport police can do, as their jurisdiction does not "follow the flag" on the boats that ply in and out of the harbor.

TWO CARS STOLEN IN NEWPORT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—Two autos were reported stolen at Newport Beach yesterday. H. M. Baines said his roadster, license No. 5X552, was stolen about 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning from in front of the Everett Chase cottages in Balboa.

Fred Trefren, 315 South Shelton street, Los Angeles, reported his sedan was stolen while parked in Newport.

Otto Schutt did not lose his auto, but he complained to the police that while his car was parked near the beach at Corona Del Mar, some person broke the locks on the door and stole $20 he had left in the car.

Driver of Brea Company Injured

BREA, Aug. 6.—Bob Hood, employee of the Speed & Service Truck company, is in the Fullerton general hospital, where he was taken early yesterday morning, following the wrecking of his car on Ocean avenue near the Edison substation. The accident happened about 3 o'clock that morning.

POLICE SCHOOL DISCUSSED AT BEACH DINNER

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 6.—Capt. F. T. Hawtry of the Los Angeles police force and Prof. James I. Tucker of the University of Southern California addressed members of the Orange County Peace Officers' association at their regular session held in the city hall auditorium last night. The addresses were preceded by a dinner served by the Women's Aid of the Community Methodist church. A program of entertainment featured radio and vaudeville stars.

Captain Hawtry gave a description of the radio system which is used by the Los Angeles police department and which has given rise to such widespread interest. Captain Hawtry stated that by August 15 it is expected that all of Southern California will be connected with a teletype system, which will be used with the radio system in the detection of crime.

Professor Tucker, head of the U. S. C. police school, spoke of the value of education in police work and urged the group to endeavor to enter officers in this school. At the close of his address a committee of five were appointed to investigate the possibility of establishing a similar school in Santa Ana, where it would be more accessible to Orange county peace officers.

Mrs. Weston, director of adult education in Santa Ana, spoke briefly concerning the plans for financing the courses for local police officers.

Two of the deer were killed by John Kettler and one by another of the party, while their guide got two more.

Archers Get 184-Pound Fish at Laguna

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—A party of Laguna Beach archers captured a 184-pound broadbill swordfish five miles off the local shore yesterday afternoon. It was snared with a hand harpoon by Matt McClintock, who made a strike in the middle of the fish's back. Owen Holmwood and Harold Reed shot arrows to which fishing lines had been attached into the head and tail, but the swordfish fought for nearly an hour before they could land it in the boat. Douglas Parvin of Laguna Beach and Irving Myer of Costa Mesa also were in the party which made the trip with Captain Fuller of Balboa.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR ROLLO HILBERT

LA HABRA, Aug. 6.—Funeral services for Rollo Hilbert, 39, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hilbert, pioneer druggist at La Habra, were held at the Methodist church Wednesday.

A GREAT BOON TO SANTA ANA

The question of the city budget and of the tax rate is interesting and agitating to the people of the city to a very great degree. It is natural that this should be so. The city's business should be scrutinized by the citizens at all times. It is not done at all times because during good times people are so busy making money and spending money that "everything goes" and little attention is paid to economy.

There are some things that are fixed in a city's expenses. These particular fixed items are matters of indebtedness in the form of bonds or other obligations and the interest on such indebtedness. They represent, as a rule, the improvements of other years that we are paying for year by year. This cannot be subtracted from and there is little value in arguing about it one way or another. But the balance of the expenditures of the city becomes a matter for the judgment of those entrusted with the conduct of the city's affairs.

This is an important item today, the reason being that nearly everyone's income has been reduced in some form or other. If one is living off of dividends the chances are his income has been greatly reduced. If they are salaried people working for corporations it is very probable that their wages have been decreased. If they have been in the real estate business their income may be almost wiped out. If they own property and are leasing it, it is found that rents are decreasing and sometimes defaulting. The tax item thereby becomes an important matter and then in charge of the city's affairs should determine at such times to actually cut out every dollar of expenditure where it is possible to cut it out.

It amounts to establishing for the time being a different standard. It is almost a good thing for municipalities to have to pass through periods of such depression in order to prevent the tendency to spend the people's money in foolish ways. The manner in which taxation has outrun the increase in property values and in population here in Southern California should cause every thoughtful person to aid in halting public expenses.

There is only one thing in which expenses today should equal and probably surpass the expense under which the city has been in other days, and that is for the work of unemployment. Everything else should be bent toward the necessary work of looking after those citizens of the city whose incomes may have ceased entirely.

We believe that a majority, if not all, of the members of our city council in theory are in hearty accord with all that we have just written. But it is a difficult thing in practice to cut down expenses for on each item of expenditure there are those who make their personal appeal for themselves or their group and urge that it should not apply to them. At such times he is a wise servant who keeps in mind the general good as being paramount to any group or any interest. At such times as this the one, or ones, who are insisting upon the closest and keenest economy are the ones whose counsel is most valuable.

If Santa Ana can keep her tax rate down to the point of other years, or possibly reduced slightly, it in the end would be one of the greatest boons for Santa Ana as a city and for the real estate business here. People seeking homes or investments in real estate are coming to figure on the tax rate as one of the principal factors to consider. It helps the merchants, it helps the home owner, it helps the banks, and in the end by that wise conduct of affairs when the turn of business brings in our accustomed prosperity, the rapid advance of such a municipality will know no bounds.

GREAT BRITAIN FACES DEFICIT

Great Britain faces a budget deficit of six million dollars. The proposition will be placed before parliament to cut the doles twenty per cent by which a saving of three hundred and thirty-three million will be saved by this action. The police officers and school teachers are to receive cuts as high as twenty per cent, big cuts for government research and road construction will be made.

Great Britain has to go down to the marrow now when she cuts for she has been running behind for a long period. We don't know in this country what real reductions are. To be sure many employees in private corporations have been cut but with the reduction of living expenses 25 per cent at least, the real salary of public officials and school teachers being kept up, and in some cases raised, it has not affected our public workers.

PROVINCIAL AMERICA

In travelling over the country, or in reading the newspapers from divergent sections, one is impressed with the local character both of news items and public interests. This is one of the inevitable consequences in a country which stretches out over many thousands of miles east and west and north and south. We were told by a New England man who had just made an extensive trip across the country that he had bought the leading newspapers in the cities which he had visited on his trip, and scanned them all carefully for items of New England news; and the only item which caught his eye in all the papers he had read was a dispatch from Boston which reported a scandal arising from a minister kissing another man's wife. That was all that had happened in New England so far as the country knew.

Unless some incident like the Mooney case arises, that is about as extensive as the news of California reaches other parts of the country. Each section is most interested in its own local doings. The small town papers are largely filled with village happenings. The larger towns take in the news of a wider region. The city papers reach out a bit more widely in national and international affairs. But in the mean, it may be said that we are a provincial people, supremely interested in the things nearby. There are a very few newspapers that feature European news. The New York Times and Herald-Tribune, the Chicago Tribune, the Kansas City Star, and a few other papers in the country carry to a greater or lesser extent, largely lesser, foreign items of news.

This limitation of interests is more characteristic of the United States than of almost any country in Europe. Apart from the people who travel extensively, Europe to us, is little more than a spot on the world map. There are a number of reasons for it. One is, as has already been noted, the bigness of our own country, which prevents the major part of our people from seeing any part of their country but their own part. Another is, so far as foreign interests go, that we are remote from the other nations that figure largely in world affairs, and therefore do not feel their interests as do those countries of Europe which are much smaller, and which lie much closer together.

Yet it needs very little observation to make the growing interest in the wider world since the United States has taken its place as the financial and industrial leader among the nations of the world. An increasing number of newspapers are editorializing on foreign happenings, largely because they affect us commercially and financially. More and more we are becoming more cosmopolitan; and as our interests reach out more and more, the more will the remoter parts of the world and its doings become of concern to us. The world is growing smaller as travel and trade, the radio and the airplane, develop common interests and make for rapid communication. Another generation will make the American people much more world conscious; and as a result we shall become a much broader and better informed people.

Father Neptune's Caprices

Oakland Tribune

One of the un conquered frontiers is all wet. It's the ocean, of whose vast expanse mankind knows but little. For ages have literally tapped its surface, perfecting the art of navigation. Of what goes on in the depths there is still more curiosity than accurate knowledge.

That Father Neptune has his whims is brought to light by the dispute now in progress as to what happens off our shores in the Pacific and the possible effect on our climate. California has supposedly enjoyed mild temperatures because of the influence of the Japan current.

Ocean temperatures off La Jolla, where the state and private interests have been conducting experiments, are declared to be 10 degrees warmer this summer than 15 years ago, a difference, which gives rise to speculation over whether that has had anything to do with the wave of intense heat inland.

The breezes which sweep in from the ocean are naturally affected by sea temperatures, but there is a relation, too, between the temperature of the water off shore and inland rainfall. California's water problem, therefore, would seem to be dictated not entirely by the proverbial Jupiter Pluvius, but subject as well to the caprices of Father Neptune.

Wife Entitled to Vacation

Pomona Progress Bulletin

An English judge has ruled that if a husband refuses to take his wife back after a two weeks' vacation, as he threatened, he could be prosecuted for desertion.

In this country, husbands and wives usually go on their vacation together. Not many husbands care to go off to a cool resort, and leave the wife perspiring in a steaming kitchen.

Certainly the wife is entitled to a vacation quite as much as any factory or store worker. While industry has commonly come down to an eight-hour basis, the housewife's day begins at 6 or 7 o'clock and does not end until 10, and she may have to get up in the night to soothe the children.

It is no wonder that the misanthropic gaze out of the kitchen window with a far away look in her eyes.

The Cost of War

Riverside Daily Press

In declaring that the current business depression is, in the last analysis, part of the price that is being paid for the World War, Secretary Mellon hits on a truth that is becoming more and more apparent to thinking men each day.

"I have lived through several crises," says Mr. Mellon, "and the conclusion I have come to is that they have been caused, either directly or remotely, by serious dislocations which were due, as a rule, to wars and their aftermath."

That cannot be repeated too often. War is a ruinously expensive business, and the smallest part of its cost is the money that is actually spent on armies and ammunition. General recognition of the fact ought, eventually, to make war between civilized nations impossible.

Ripe!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TO AN OYSTER

On learning that he may be safely eaten all the year round.
No more, little oyster, curled up in the deep,
You may dream all the summertime through,
Assured that you may not be waked from your sleep
As you're plunged in a succulent stew.
No more can you feel that no oysterman's rake
Your snug, cozy shell may dismember,
For, unlike the cod and the haddock and hake,
You are poison from May till November.
Full well might you wail, if you only could talk,
"Alas! I shall soon be extinct as the auk!"

It was only man's fancy that made him suppose
That you and your submarine brood,
Who dwell where the whispering tide ebbs and flows,
In summer were unfit for food.
Full well may you cover in pallid alarm
And tremble in every sinew,
For science has found you are free from all harm;
No poison whatever is in you.
Too soon, little bivalve, your name shall be found
On the restaurant menus the whole year round.

And yet, as your palpitant figures recline,
Silver gray on the shining half shell,
And you dream your last dream of the murmuring brine
That flowed through the kelp-bordered dell,
You may know, as the tinkle of silver you hear
While we feast on you, plate after plateful,
That your shortened sojourn in your watery sphere
Has certainly rendered us grateful.
Yet you may not be cognizant, lacking a brain—
Which I'm told that you do—that your loss is our gain.

Too Proud To Fight

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, has just said publicly what privately is on the minds of nine out of ten readers of this paper:

"IF IT IS PROPER TO APPROPRIATE BILLIONS FOR THE DESTRUCTIVE PURPOSES OF WAR, WHY IS IT IMPROPER TO APPROPRIATE BILLIONS TO CARRY ON CONSTRUCTIVE ENTERPRISES, SO THAT MILLIONS OF MEN MAY HAVE WORK?"

Mr. Green might have added that the present economic situation is more of a menace to American institutions than Germany ever was. In any event, poverty is an enemy worthy of our steel and of our gold.

Yet we keep on piling up our gold, and refusing to use it in constructive enterprises. We keep on adding to our time deposits. We keep up the flow of money to the savings banks until some of them cry out: "Stop the flood. We don't know what to do with so much money."

Yes, we are wasting our substance in riotous saving. We are saving money and wasting men.

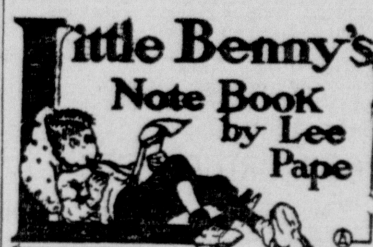

Mr. Green, as head of the American Federation of Labor, has a special right to speak on this subject, for organized labor has done its part well since the beginning of the business slump. It has patiently watched the Federal machinery grind. It has not thrown monkey wrenches into the works. It has very well lived up to the agreement made with President Hoover after the 1929 crash in the stock market.

The President asked the co-operation of organized labor in sustaining production and employment. Organized labor has done most of the co-operating. The Federal Government has done next to nothing to get our idle billions of gold and credit into circulation. Yet the Federal Government is the only agency which is powerful enough to accomplish that purpose promptly.

Mr. Green is right. We should use our ammunition at once in the war against poverty. If we have another winter of suffering, it will be because the Federal Government goes into winter quarters and refuses to fight.

Is it too proud to fight, or only too stupid?

Pop was fixing his cigar lighter and making it worse, and ma sed. A little child's mind is certainly a mysterious thing.

Its got nothing on a full grown woman's mind, pop sed.

Properly meaning ma's, and ma sed I was thinking of little Willie. I stopped in at Gladdies today to see if he was any better and Pop sed, Better from what I didn't know he was sick, and ma sed, O, he wasn't sick in so many words, he was just sneezing with rather an abnormal frequency. Anyway while I was there I conceived the idea of making a little syndical test to find out something about his little natural inclinations and future leanings.

Yes yes go on, pop sed, and ma today's Tabloid Tips, you know sed, So I cut 3 photographs out of there's practically nothing but pictures in that paper. One was President Hoover and one was the former King Alfonso and one was Musselney, and I spread them out in front of him, to see which type of face would attract him first. Of course they're all grate characters in their way, and I thought if he picked out Hoover it would indicate that he would grow up to be a conservative character with uppermost business instincts, and if he picked out King Alfonso it would show an aristocratic temperament with social leanings, and if he chose Musselney it would point to a strong minded leader among men, and I went out of the room a moment so as to be sure not to influence him in any way. I wanted it to be an unsolicited expression of his own little personality, ma sed.

Finish this episode, which one was it? pop sed and ma sed, Well it all goes to show that you can't hasten a child's education, because when I came back he had all the pictures turned over and there were 3 other photographs on the backs, and they were Al Capony Texas Geenan and Jack Dempsey and Willie was poring over them as though they were a marvelous message from Mars or something, so of course the whole thing proved nothing.

Meaning if it did she wouldn't admit it.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE RIGHT TO BE BLIND

There is no more over-worked and man-handled word in the American vocabulary than the word rights.

Here is another word that needs rethinking and re-casting. All sorts of anti-social legislation hides behind it.

And there is enough uncritical loyalty to its older significance, that in many instances, no longer exists, that the loosest use of it escapes condemnation.

The July issue of The Survey runs an item under the title of The Right to Be Blind that illustrates admirably this contention.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has actively promoted legislation compelling the use of silver nitrate in the eyes of new-born babies to prevent blindness.

There may be later and better means of treatment than silver nitrate. I do not know. But this legislation has resulted in a marked decline in blindness among new-born babies.

But a little while ago the governor of a middle western state vetoed a bill to this effect, and backed his veto with an opinion from his attorney general on the ground, among other contentions, that "the individual has certain fundamental rights which must be respected."

Among these fundamental rights, this opinion would seem to assume, is the right to be blind.

The whole round of conventional political prating about the rights of the individual is strangely out of date.

We are definitely out of the simple pastoral phase of our national development, in which the individual could stand on his own feet and do battle for his rights with his fellows, and definitely in a complex technologic phase of our national development, in which the individual playing a lone hand has less than a ghost of a show of translating his rights into realizations.

One of the big jobs of the political philosophers and statesmen of the next generation is the creation and safeguarding a new individualism.

This will inevitably mean more rather than less social control. Copyright, 1931, McClure Newspaper Syn.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

WEANING TIME

Again and again children have to be weaned from their childish ways. This is inevitable. In fancy they are dependent on their mothers. They learn that in them they have a tower of strength, a hope of comfort, a refuge in time of trouble.

The time comes when a child must learn to stand on its own feet, to comfort itself, to sustain its own spirit. That power comes gradually. Only through experience can a child be added to its mother long after the time has passed for self support, he is retarded.

Feeding himself is one experience. Just as soon as he can hold a spoon he should be allowed to do so and permitted to try to feed himself. His first attempts will be clumsy failures, but an old cloth will tide us over that difficulty and practice with praise will do the rest. Of course it is pleasant to feed the little one but the time comes when it is anything but pleasant for all concerned. Be wise and let the child begin when his instinct directs him to self help.

Playing by himself, is another forward step. The baby must stay in his crib and his mother has to play with him for a period each day. But when he can sit up and hold a rattle or a toy animal he is to do so and to be left to his own resources for a time. Leave the room to him. The door may be left open so he can be seen and heard, but for a time each day he is to play by himself. As he grows older he will be able to amuse himself for longer periods. In this way he develops a self-sufficiency that will stand him in good stead in the days ahead of him.

It is well to begin early to wean him from his desire to have his mother with him all day long and through the night. The strain on the mother is unjustified and the child is only increasing his own dependence when he is permitted to chain his mother to his side.

When he is little let him see you dress for the street and go your way. When you return go to him and greet him cheerfully. Bring something to him from the world outdoors, a leaf, a flower, a mounted feather. He will learn to associate your going with something pleasant. When he is older he will not have a tantrum or a fear spasm when you put on your hat.

It isn't wise to leave the house secretly. Always let him know you are going and assure him of your return. Bringing and promising and threatening only increase the difficulty. The child who is possessive to the degree where he demands that his mother stay with him will enjoy the scene he makes when she decides he must be weaned from this notion.

The best way is to begin early to strengthen the child in each step he takes toward maturity of mind and body. Many mothers miss the opportunity when it is offered because they like to keep the children babies as long as they can. The penalty for this mistake is severe. Better wean them from your steady as they indicate the readiness for each forward step.

GREEK KING'S SPEECH

On Aug. 6, 1917, an Athens news dispatch gave the text of a speech which young King Alexander made from the throne after taking the oath to the constitution in the chamber of deputies. He succeeded his father, King Constantine, who abdicated under allied pressure. Alexander said in part:

"The conditions upon which the transmission of the royal power was effected have clearly shown the path to be followed in the future. They render necessary the appeal to the national sovereignty so as to revise and consolidate at the same time as the throne a form of government established on the basis demanded by popular will, to decide in the most precise fashion the extent of sovereign rights of the people as well as the extent of royal authority as defined by the constitution, by giving it the democratic character which is the desire of the dynasty."

"I appeal to your unanimous aid."
